New B.C. Hangars Announced

OTTAWA (CP)—Further expansion of the airplane accommodation on the Pacific Coast was announced here today when the defence purchasing board called tenders for hangars at four Royal Canadian Air Force stations. The announcement was published in the Canada Gazette.

Three seaplane hangars will be built, with one each at the R.C.A.F. stations at Alliford, B.C.; Coal Harbor, B.C., and Ucluelet, B.C. Two single landplane hangars will be erected at the air station at Patricia Bay.

Tenders also were called by the board for supply and installation of fuel oil storage and tanks at Esquimalt, presumably in connection with the naval base.

Wider Public Information

OTTAWA (CP)—Methods to keep the public better informed on Canada's war effort are receiving attention of the government, it was learned today.

Not only will Prime Minister Mackenzie King speak tonight over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's national network as a step in this direction, but there is a possibility that one of the ministers will be chosen to concentrate on public information.

British-Japanese Talks to Resume

TOKIO (CP-Havas)—Sir Robert Craigie, British ambassador, called tonight on Masayuki Tani, vice-minister for foreign affairs, and it was understood they agreed to resume conferences for settlement of the dispute arising out of the series of Anglo-Japanese incidents at Tientsin.

Meanwhile, it was learned Foreign Minister Kichisaburo Nomura plans shortly to start conversations with the United States ambassador, Joseph C. Grew, who recently sharply criticized Japan's misunderstanding of the American viewpoint.

New Italian Arms Plan $873,800,000

ROME (AP)—The government announced late today that it would spend 17,476,000,000 lire (about $873,800,000) on Italy's armed forces in a new rearmament program.

It was not announced what period the new program would cover, nor how it would be linked with the armaments appropriation of about 10,000,000,000 lire (about $500,000,000) announced last December.

Quebec Liberals Complete Sweep

LA MALBAIE, Que. (CP)—The Liberal Party's representation in the 86-seat Quebec Legislative Assembly was increased to 68 today when Edgar Rochette was elected member for Charlevoix-Saguenay constituency by acclamation.

Rochette was the only candidate for this isolated eastern Quebec riding when official nominations closed this afternoon. The polling was to have been held November 16, but the acclamation removed the need for this.

Because of its remoteness, Charlevoix-Saguenay did not vote with the rest of the province October 25, when the Liberals swept the Union Nationale government, headed by Premier Maurice Duplessis, out of power.

Winnie Judd Free—Despite Police Hunt

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Investigator Y. C. White says it is "perfectly obvious" that Winnie Ruth Judd had help in her midnight flight from the Arizona State Hospital.

White, directing an inquiry into the trunk slayer's escape, said he believes the one-time "tiger woman" had assistance both inside and outside the institution.

Sheriff Lon Jordan searched the home of Mrs. Judd's parents, Rev. and Mrs. H. J. McKinnell, as a "precautionary measure."

LONDON (CP)—Rt. Rev. Geoffrey Francis Fisher, new Bishop of London, took his oath of office before the King at a Privy Council in Buckingham Palace today.

80 GERMAN SEAMEN TAKEN PRISONER

LONDON (AP)—Eighty German seamen were landed today at a Scottish port by a British-armed merchant cruiser, it was announced here, but where they came from was not disclosed.

Canada May Have Ministry of Air

OTTAWA (CP)—The Ottawa Citizen said today in a newspaper story that a Canadian Air Ministry may be appointed, according to sources close to the National Defence Department.

Serious thought has been given the matter by the government in view of the fact that a gigantic scheme to train 25,000 war birds annually is already in motion, the paper said.

The Citizen added that Honorary Air Marshal W. A. Bishop, who won the Victoria Cross for daring aerial exploits during the first Great War, is being mentioned as a possible air minister and Air Vice-Marshal J. Lindsay Gordon of the Royal Canadian Air Force as deputy minister.

No Early Election

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King late today said that reports the government was considering holding a general election before the next session of Parliament, scheduled to open in January, were unauthorized "and wholly without foundation."

Dominion-Provincial Report December 1

OTTAWA (CP)—Final draft of the report of the Royal Commission on Dominion-Provincial relations was considered here today by three of the commissioners, and the fourth will attend further meetings to be held probably all next week.

The commissioners at today's conference were Dr. Joseph Sirois, chairman; Dr. R. A. McKay and Prof. H. F. Angus. J. W. Dufour is expected to arrive Monday.

After the meeting is concluded next week, the commissioners will return to Ottawa in about a month to sign the report before presentation to the government. The report probably will be made public about December 1, according to present information here.

'All Quiet' Author's Wife Barred By U.S.

NEW YORK (AP)—Mrs. Eric Maria Remarque, wife of the self-exiled German author of "All Quiet on the Western Front," was ordered excluded from the United States this afternoon by the immigration board at Ellis Island.

The board challenged validity of her Panamanian passport, issued at Athens, Greece.

No Severe Rationing In Britain Seen

LONDON (CP)—William S. Morrison, Minister of Food, said today he saw no reason "why we should expect anything very restrictive" when the government's food rationing system is put into operation next month.

Mr. Morrison told newspapermen the amount of restriction posted would vary with the quantity of supplies available but added that the supply position now was considerably better than a few weeks ago.

A normal movement of Canadian bacon was reaching Britain, he said, and added in reply to a question that negotiations were progressing between government purchasing agents and Canadian packers for a new bacon contract.

It might be necessary to pool some products such as margarine, but the government would do no more pooling than necessary as it did not desire to interfere unduly with trade, he said.

MOSCOW (AP)—United States Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt was reported unofficially to have made representations to the Russian government today concerning treatment accorded the American vessel "City of Flint" while she was in the Soviet port of Murmansk.

Steinhardt called at the Foreign Office and talked with Vladimir P. Potemkin, Vice-commissioner of Foreign Affairs.

Nazi Battleship Reported Loose In Pacific

LONDON (CP)—British naval authorities said tonight the German pocket battleship Admiral Scheer and Deutschland were known to have been at sea for a month and to have sunk only three vessels—one of them a neutral ship.

Fear of British patrols was credited with having kept the two raiders from dense shipping routes.

The Admiral Scheer was believed to have shipped around Cape Horn to the Pacific.

One success of a pocket battleship was said to have been the British ship Stonegate, sunk about 500 miles east of Florida October 5 by the Deutschland. The next heard from the Deutschland was off Newfoundland October 12, when a Norwegian ship was stopped but not sunk.

Two days later the Norwegian ship Hansen was sunk by the Deutschland near Newfoundland. Subsequently the Deutschland seized the United States vessel City of Flint and remained with her until she reached Norwegian waters.

OFF BRAZIL'S COAST

Earlier, the British ship Clement was sunk off Pernambuco, Brazil, September 30, by a surface raider British sources said was the Admiral Scheer.

Since October 15 there has been no direct word of either warship. With three oceans to range over it was regarded as a hard job for British vessels to come up to them, but authorities expressed satisfaction that the vessels had been forced to do "more cruising than raiding."

It was pointed out that both the Admiral Scheer and the Deutschland were vessels of long endurance with a range of 20,000 miles at their economical cruising speeds. The range could be increased with arrangements for refueling.

Volunteers Rush In Great Britain

LONDON (CP)—Men stood in line today to answer last night's War Office call for volunteers between the ages of 22 and 35 years for cavalry, artillery, engineering corps, tank and infantry service.

Among them were veterans of the last war who had come to join the labor corps.

At Whitehall, volunteers were waiting outside the doors of the central recruiting depot long before it opened. Afterwards there was a steady stream of men of all ages.

Social distinctions were left at the door. Inside the building, young business men chatted with laborers and artisans while first comers were being interviewed by officials. In one group a young stockbroker, a department manager and a war veteran talked together.

A. F. Appleton, 25-year-old brewer of Boddinham, Herefordshire, told the press: "I have been trying to get into the army for seven weeks, but I have not been able to because of red tape."

The volunteers did not actually enter the army today. After being interviewed they were given papers telling them to report at various service depots open to receive recruits.

This was the first general call since the war began September 3. Enlistments only of specialized classes have been asked previously.

The Deutschland and Admiral Scheer, launched in 1931 and 1933 respectively, are vessels of the same class. Each is armed with six 11-inch guns, eight 5.9-inch and smaller guns.

CITY RELIEF DOWN

A reduction in the number of families on relief sent September costs $1,849.54 below those for August, according to figures released today by the city welfare office.

Last month there was a decline of 31 families as well as six single cases on the city's lists.

Total costs for September amounted to $15,398.30 against August's $17,247.84, and $16,693.55 in September of last year. Included in last month's $15,398.30 were allowances of $10,073.78 for 408 family units and $5,324.52 for 413 single cases.

Despite the drop in September the running total for the year to the end of that month was approximately $9,500 above the figure listed at the end of the same month last year. The 1939 total was $174,557.88, against $165,051.52 at September 30, 1938.

First Pictures of British Minesweepers in Action

The sweepers each mount a large naval gun forward and carries a paravane device by which underwater mines are swept along two cables extending out from the vessel, with the floating paravane signalling the encountering of a mine, so its anchor chain can be severed, and the mine exploded by gunfire, or taken from the water. German Flint Crew Challenges British Blockade

BERLIN (AP)—Official advices received here tonight said the United States steamship City of Flint was being sailed from Murmansk to Germany under command of a prize crew from the German pocket battleship Deutschland.

The freighter was reported somewhere along the Norwegian coast, heading slowly into the British blockade area.

The vessel, seized as a contraband ship and taken to the Russian port of Murmansk, above the Arctic circle, was released last night by Soviet Russia.

Advices reaching Berlin said the Germans lost no time in lifting anchor for Hamburg, where a prize court was planned to decide on the fate of the ship and her cargo.

Whereabouts of the American crew of the City of Flint still was unclear here, but German officials said they "believed" the Americans were aboard the freighter.

Germany's seizure of the steamship assumed growing importance in Nazi eyes as a possible precedent in future policies of sea warfare against Great Britain. Germans generally contended the sea patrol which boarded the American freighter was within its rights.

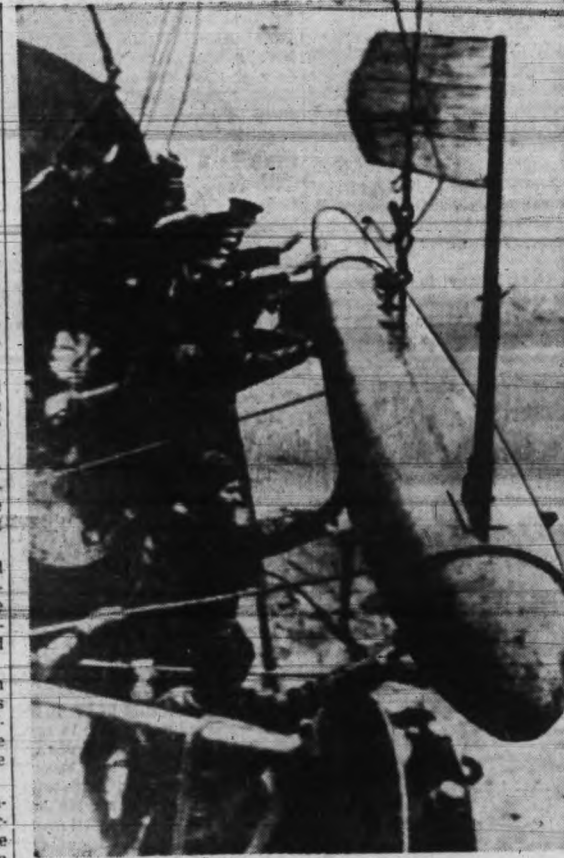

U-BOAT BOASTS

German submarine commanders boasted they would have no trouble conveying her from Murmansk down the North Sea and through the British blockade to Hamburg.

Informed sources professed to consider the voyage from Murmansk relatively eased in this season of fogs and poor visibility. More ships were arriving at Hamburg these foggy days, they claimed, than the British authorities suspected.

A spokesman of the U.S. Embassy here said last night that questions involving international law in the City of Flint issue and ultimate disposal of the vessel still were "away up in the air."

The authoritative commentary service, Dienst Aus Deutschland, disputed what it called a widely-raised argument in the United States that it was illegal to commandeer the freighter because less than half of her cargo was contraband under either the British or German conception. The German view of blockade warfare, it said, was that a vessel carrying contraband, however small the quantity, might be brought in as a prize.

SHIP RADIO PLANT FOR GORDON HEAD

Erection of a modern radio station at Gordon Head to replace the one which has been in operation for many years on Gonzales Hill is planned by the Dominion Government.

Tenders for the erection of the new station have been invited and will close with the Department of Transport at Ottawa November 8.

The plant will be built on high ground at McCoy Road, immediately at the back of the proposed airport at Gordon Head. It will consist of an operating house and a dwelling for the chief operator.

The equipment will be of a vastly-improved type to that which has done duty on Gonzales Hill. It will include a short wave transmitter, a standard shore to ship transmitter and emergency power equipment. Steel towers to carry the antennae will be 150 feet high.

One of the chief reasons for the transfer of the Gonzales Hill station to Gordon Head, it is understood, is to remove the wireless interference which has long been protested by Gonzales Bay residents.

Gordon Head is not so thickly populated and the improved equipment is specially designed to eliminate interference.

Embargo Repeal Gets 67 to 22 Support in Test

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States Senate went on record for repealing the arms embargo 67 to 22 today, but a fighting opposition promptly demanded one more ballot on the controversial issue before permitting a final vote on the administration neutrality bill.

Leaders on both sides agreed the 67 to 22 ballot was a vote to repeal the embargo, but subsequently Senator Clark, Democrat, Missouri, said he would seek one more ballot on this key issue.

The repeal vote, reached on the 20th day of the Senate's history-making neutrality debate, came on a proposal by Senator G. P. Nye, Democrat, North Dakota, to discard the administration measure and substitute a bill, similar to that of the administration, except that it would maintain the existing ban on arms sales.

Repeal of the embargo was recommended by President Roosevelt when he called Congress into special session last month. Although it was but one of his recommendations for revising the neutrality law, it immediately became the crux of the entire foreign policy fight in the Senate.

All sides agreed the effect of repeal would be to give aid to Britain and France in their war with Germany, but many repeal proponents argued the present embargo is unneutral.

Earlier today the Senate had turned aside by 65 to 26 an amendment to ban armed merchant vessels and submarines of belligerent nations from United States ports.

Administration leaders predicted final passage of the measure with its provision for repealing the arms embargo—late in the day.

On the House of Representatives' side, it was learned that leaders at a long meeting last night tentatively agreed on procedure by which they hope to get final congressional action on the bill a week from tomorrow night.

Before the bill becomes law it must be passed by the House of Representatives and signed by the President.

Municipal Polls Go Ahead in B.C.

There will be no cancellation of municipal elections in British Columbia.

Premier Pattullo made this brief announcement today in comment on the action of the Ontario government in planning to suspend municipal polls for the next two years.

The Premier said he did not think such action was necessary in this province.

Hon. A. Wells Gray, Minister of Municipal Affairs, said the question had not been previously considered by the government, and there was no suggestion of it at the recent Municipal Union convention here.

MADRAS CABINET QUILTS IN PROTEST

MADRAS, India (CP)—The Congress Party ministry of Madras resigned today.

The Governor of Madras, Lord Erskine, intimated to Premier Raja Opalchari he could not finally accept his resignation until he had time to make other arrangements to carry on the government.

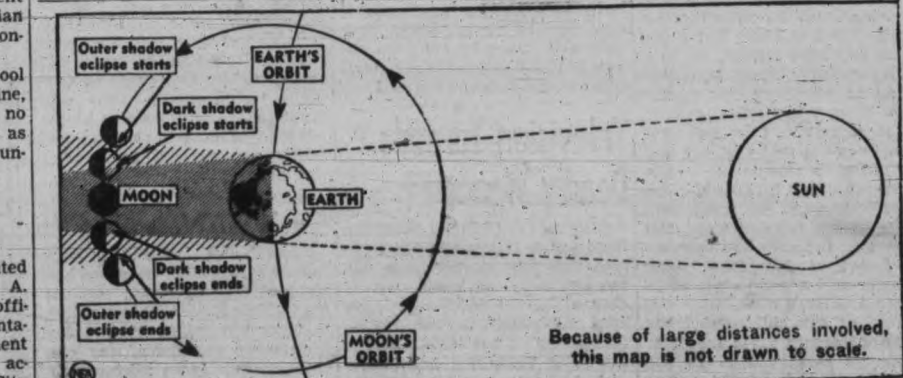

The Madras Legislative Assembly yesterday adopted a motion disapproving the viceroy's declaration of October 17 on India's future.

(The Viceroy's declaration said Britain desired to postpone talks on giving India status as a dominion until after the war.)

Coal Administrator

OTTAWA (CP)—M. McG. Stewart, K.C., of Halifax, has been appointed coal administrator by the wartime prices and trade board under Chairman Hector McKinnon, it was announced here today.

Frank G. Neate, secretary of the Dominion Fuel Board, has been loaned to the prices and trade board as technical adviser to the coal administrator.

Ruby Keeler to Get Alimony $400 Week

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Al Jolson's expressed hope of patching up his differences with Ruby Keeler are fading.

The "mammy" singer and his Canadian wife disclosed today they had reached a property settlement.

Miss Keeler, a native of Halifax, said she would seek a divorce in November.

The agreement gives her $400 a week for life, or until she remarries, when she will receive a lump sum of $50,000. She will retain custody of their adopted son.

Political Faiths

NEW YORK (AP)—President Roosevelt, discussing political faiths last night in his speech to the New York Herald-Tribune Forum, said he was reminded of four definitions:

"A radical is a man with both feet firmly planted—in the air."

"A conservative is a man with two perfectly good legs" who, however, has never learned to walk.

"A reactionary is a son-of-a-bitch walking backwards."

"A liberal is a man who uses his legs and his hands at the behest of his head."

Germans Planned To Blow Up Flint

BERGEN, Norway (AP)—James McConnochie, radio operator of the United States freighter City of Flint, declared today the ship's German prize crew took her through ice-strewn waters with explosives planted in the engine room while they flew the Danish flag and repainted the ship's name to "Ail."

The Scottish radio operator gave the German captors the slip when they stopped at Tromsø, northern Norway, to unload survivors of the British ship Stonegate, sunk by the raider that took the Flint captive.

Mixing with the British sailors, he managed to get ashore undetected and came to Bergen with them.

His story to the Bergen newspaper Aftenbladet after his arrival here said the City of Flint sighted a foreign warship October 9, which at first was assumed to be British or French, but proved to be the German pocket battleship Deutschland.

The raider halted the freighter, placed the survivors of the torpedoed British steamship aboard and then proceeded to check the cargo, finding "a considerable quantity of oil."

Declaring this was serious, the German commander said he would not sink the ship, McConnochie related, but placed 18 Germans on board to take possession.

The operator, who had been the first man to pick up the distress signals from the ill-fated British liner Athenia, said the City of Flint thereupon began a slow, "unpleasant" trip northward through "terribly cold" seas.

ENGINE ROOM MINED

En route, he continued, the German crewmen planted a heavy charge of explosives in the engine room, prepared to blow up the ship if they should encounter trouble. Later they entered an area of floating ice, and the Germans painted out the freighter's name, substituting "Ail" for "City of Flint" and painting the Danish flag on the sides.

McConnochie said it was untrue there was anything wrong with the engines or navigation facilities of the City of Flint.

The ship, sailed by the prize crew, pursued a dodging course north and east, keeping a sharp lookout for British and French warships, but none were encountered.

McConnochie said a water shortage developed that forced the freighter to put in at Tromsø. There the British survivors were permitted to land. The radio operator said because of his manner of speech he was able to mix with them and land successfully.

McConnochie said the American crew members, although worried by their plight, were not treated badly by their German captors and nothing untoward had happened to any at the time he slipped off the ship at Tromsø.

Russians Keep Ss. Flint News From U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Cordell Hull said today he was completely baffled in his efforts to get adequate information from the Russian government on the City of Flint, which to the United States State Department has become a veritable mystery ship.

State Department officials were unanimous in criticizing the Soviet government for giving information on the City of Flint through the Soviet news agency some hours before it was delivered to the interested government, the United States.

Mr. Hull said Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt in Moscow had tried three different methods of getting in touch with the American crew of the City of Flint—telephone, railroad and airplane—and thus far had not been successful in any.

There was a note of bitterness in Mr. Hull's voice as he recounted the efforts of Ambassador Steinhardt.

Mr. Hull seemed to look forward to German prize crew proceedings as the only real means for obtaining the facts. He said if there was a question of the ownership of the vessel, after its seizure by the Germans, the United States government would be interested in attending the prize court hearings, since the ship belongs to an American government agency, the Maritime Commission.

He said the United States government had not made any representations in Berlin after the Soviet news agency announcement that the vessel had to leave Murmansk immediately.

By WITT HANCOCK
MOSCOW (AP)—United States Ambassador Laurence A. Steinhardt finally succeeded late today in gaining an interview with a Russian Foreign Office official on his request for information on the American vessel City of Flint, after earlier attempts to get an appointment had failed.

The ambassador went to see Vladimir P. Potemkin, Vice-Commissar of Foreign Affairs, shortly before 6 p.m. (7 a.m., P.S.T.). There was no immediate announcement of the results of the interview.

Although Soviet officials had assured Steinhardt they would give him full information concerning the vessel which was taken to the Russian arctic port of Murmansk under command of a German prize crew and later released, he had been unable to learn any more than what was in the Soviet press.

That was simply a brief report that the City of Flint had been freed from the remote port. The ambassador went to the Foreign Office last night, but failed to see any high official.

The embassy spent two days trying to telephone the master of the Flint, or some other officer, at Murmansk. One call got through to the port city, but that was cut off a minute later without conversation between the embassy and any of the Americans.

The Soviet announcement last night that the ship had been ordered out of Murmansk after inspection of a prize crew of 18 or her American crew.

Whether she still carried her cargo of tractors, grain and other shipments consigned to Britain likewise was in doubt. (The Danish radio, announcing release of the ship, said the cargo first had been taken off.)

There still was no official word the City of Flint actually had departed, but well-informed quarters

Germans Massing Troops, Planes

By JOHN MARTIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

PARIS—The Germans have moved tanks and rapid-fire artillery into attacking positions in the Westwall, French military observers reported today.

French patrol reports indicated the Germans facing the Maginot fortifications were in "jump-off" spots all along the northern flank, but an intense cold snap proved an ally of the French, who said they were all set for a German offensive.

Premier Daladier gave the council of ministers today a long review of the war and the diplomatic situation.

The cold and flooded regions in some parts of the front caused French observers to doubt that a German drive would be immediate, but they said they expected it as soon as a rift in the weather appeared.

Reconnoitring units skirmished in snow, sleet and icy rain along the 100-mile northern flank last night, getting some artillery support as they wallowed in the ice-crusted mud.

The sudden rigid control of German communications with Belgium and The Netherlands also led the French to suspect a big German push was imminent.

The French have estimated Germany now has 1,500,000 men either in front line or supporting positions. French reports also said huge numbers of bombers and fighting planes were being brought up to airfields just behind the Westwall, but the French were depending on the weather to keep them grounded, at least temporarily.

Berlin Believes Offensive Near

BERLIN (AP)—The impression persisted today that the German command contemplated an offensive in the west, that it would be launched soon and that it would be aimed chiefly against Britain.

This seemed to be borne out by a ban yesterday on private use of telephones and telegraph services to foreign countries. Observers noted similar controls of communications were imposed the day before the invasion of Poland.

Political circles speculated whether an offensive might be launched on land, at sea or in the air. These sources claimed Germany had knowledge of the stations of British troops in France.

Adolf Hitler's Volkischer Beobachter, after praising what it called systematic Russian-German co-operation, said an agreement under which the Soviet will supply fodder and grain to Germany would silence those who "doubted the seriousness and the willingness of the German and Soviet governments for productive co-operation."

Television Torpedo Deadly Weapon

CHICAGO (AP)—Specifications for a flying torpedo operated remotely by television and "so explosive it could destroy even a large battleship" have been submitted to the United States war department by the American Television Institute.

U. A. Sanabria, who, with Dr. Lee de Forest, pioneer radio engineer, operates the institute chiefly as a training school, said today the television torpedo interested army officers at a demonstration.

50 Bodies Found In Sunken U-boat

DOVER, Eng. (CP)—Between 50 and 60 bodies were reported today to have been found by divers exploring the shattered German submarine washed up yesterday on the Goodwin Sands.

The Goodwin Sands are more than five miles out from the Kent coast, forming a natural breakwater to the Downs roadstead. Heavy firing was heard off the coast Wednesday.

One theory was that the submarine was sunk either by depth charges or aerial bombs and drifted aground.

Divers worked from a salvage vessel beside the submarine. Part of the conning tower and periscope were visible from shore with the aid of glasses.

The submarine is lying on a sandbank near the wrecks of the Italian steamship Val Salice and the United States ship Siberia, lost on the same day in 1917 during a storm.

Goodwin Sands are the storm-tossed wreckage of a once-fertile island. Known as Lomeau, the isle was the home of Earl Godwin or Godwine in the 11th century, when England was a Saxon land.

William the Conqueror confiscated the estate and gave it to the Abbey of St. Augustine at Canterbury.

Tradition holds that funds for maintaining seawalls of the island were diverted by the abbey to build the steeple of Tenterden Church, in the British town of that name.

As a result, the island was swept away by a storm in 1099, and ever since its treacherous sands have been the bane of mariners. An old maxim of the countryside runs: "Tenterden steeple was the cause of Goodwin Sands." (A German submarine was stuck on the sands after becoming entangled in nets in 1917. Half of the crew were saved.)

SUB COMMANDER BLAMES CHURCHILL

GIBRALTAR (AP)—Five men clinging to the wreckage of a British ship were the unintentional decoys that a German submarine used in sinking her second victim at the same spot, Capt. Norman Rice of the freighter Ledbury declared today.

Capt. Rice, with his entire crew of 25 men and the five earlier castaways, was landed here by the United States freighter Crown City.

The skipper said that about 80 miles off Cape Spartel, African promontory of the Strait of Gibraltar, the Ledbury came on the five men amid the wreckage Tuesday morning.

Instructing his wireless operator to stand by, he cautiously circled in a calm sea and finally managed to cast a line to one of the men. The others were picked up in a lifeboat.

All proved to be seamen from the Menin Ridge, sunk a little while before by a submarine.

Suddenly the U-boat reappeared and fired a shot which missed the Ledbury.

"I put the Ledbury's stern toward the submarine," said Capt. Rice, and ordered an SOS dispatched.

"Thereupon the submarine commenced shelling the Ledbury heavily. I instantly ordered the crew to abandon ship and I ran to the cabin to secure the ship's papers."

"While I was doing so, a shell burst on the deck underneath, wrecking the cabin. The Ledbury began to sink, and I and my whole crew, plus the men from the Menin Ridge, got safely into two lifeboats just as she sank, at 10 a.m., stern first."

"The submarine then approached the lifeboats and her commander shouted in good English:

"It's Winston Churchill (First Lord of the Admiralty) and the money grabbers of London who want war and who are to blame. We don't want war."

Capt. Rice said the Crown City appeared three hours later and brought the two boatloads of men here.

Is the family's financial future assured?

To accomplish this the husband and father must do three things:—

- (1) Leave an estate large enough to provide the income his family will need.
- (2) Hand his estate on to the family in such a way that its value will be reduced as little as possible.
- (3) Provide for the type of management that will produce the highest income consistent with safety, and that will give prudent counsel in financial matters at all times.

This is a problem that deserves prompt consideration. Our officers, with a background of 37 years of experience, can assist you with a plan that will care for all requirements.

Liberals Retain Cranbrook Seat

CRANBROOK, B.C. (CP)—The British Columbia Legislature will have a "new baby" for its coming fall session—27-year-old Arnold McGrath, who retained Cranbrook for the Liberals in yesterday's by-election.

Mr. McGrath defeated a couple of veterans, the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation's Thomas O'Connor, who has been prominent in labor circles for 30 years, and A. B. Smith, Independent Liberal, who has been active in Cranbrook Liberal circles since 1912.

The complete vote was: McGrath 1,770, O'Connor 1,278, Smith 363.

This gave McGrath a margin of 492 over O'Connor and a majority of 129 over both opponents.

Mr. McGrath's winning margin was much less than that of E. M. MacPherson, who won the seat in the 1937 general election by a majority of 2,167 over Sam Shearer, C.C.F. Mr. MacPherson resigned the seat and his portfolio of Public Works recently to become a member of the Dominion Transport Board.

Mr. Smith was a last-minute entry just before the close of nominations Monday.

Mr. McGrath with 785 votes to O'Connor's 296 got a lead of 489 in Cranbrook City, which has a third of the riding's voters. Mr. Smith made his best showing there with 218 votes.

The mining town of Kimberley favored Mr. O'Connor, his 694 giving him a margin of 130 over Mr. McGrath in that centre. Chapman Camp and Marysville also favored the C.C.F. man. Mayook gave five votes to each and the other polls gave an edge to Mr. McGrath.

Mr. McGrath's 27 years will make him the youngest member of the Legislature, five years younger than Harold Winch, C.C.F. House leader.

STANDING UNCHANGED

As a result of the poll the standing in the Legislature remains as follows: Liberals 31, Conservatives 8, C.C.F. 8, Labor 1, Total 48.

The provincial Conservative Party did not contest the by-election, in line with its announced policy to co-operate with the government in proceeding with war efforts.

PRAIRIE MAN

Mr. McGrath was born at Dodsland, Sask., attended public and high school there and at Kinross, Sask., graduated from the University of Saskatchewan at Saskatoon and took his Master of Arts degree at the University of Toronto. He came to Cranbrook, B.C., in 1931, and in 1937 to Cranbrook, where he is engaged in the lumber and farm implement business.

Both Premier Pattullo and the C.C.F. House leader, Harold Winch, took part in the campaign.

It was the third by-election since the 1937 general election. The Liberals won Dewdney from the Conservatives in May of last year and lost a Vancouver Centre seat to the C.C.F. in May of this year.

has full control over local organizations, it does not necessarily follow that the Conservative Party will not put up candidates in the two pending by-elections. It is also possible the C.C.F. and Social Credit parties will enter candidates.

A seat must be found shortly for Hon. J. L. Ralston who, immediately after the outbreak of war, was appointed Finance Minister.

It was stated unofficially that Col. Ralston would not be a candidate in either Kent or Saskatchewan.

King-Hall New M.P.
LONDON (CP)—Commander Stephen King-Hall, writer of the celebrated letters to thousands of Germans on the eve of the war, was today elected National Labor member of Parliament for Ormskirk, Lancashire. Commander King-Hall was unopposed, by virtue of the inter-party agreement, in the by-election brought about by the resignation of Sir Thomas Rosbotham.

Critics Faking Says Roosevelt

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Roosevelt, striking out at critics who charge his foreign policy may lead the United States to war, accuses them of perpetrating "one of the worst fakes in current history."

In and out of congress, according to the chief executive, orators have been "beating their breasts and proclaiming against sending the boys of American mothers to fight on the battlefields of Europe."

Mr. Roosevelt said in a broadcast address this is "a shameless and dishonest fake." No person in any post of responsibility anywhere in the United States, he said, has ever suggested United States youth be sent to fight abroad.

The President's speech, made as the Senate neared final action on his proposal to repeal the arms embargo, was delivered from the White House under auspices of the New York Herald Tribune forum on "The War's Challenge to the United States."

The President also praised the "majority of the press and the radio" for "objective reporting" of the international situation. He said this had worked so well he wished "for more of it in the field of domestic news."

THOUGHTS UNCONTROLLED
After repeating that the United States is neutral and does not intend to get involved in the war, President said:

"That we can be neutral in thought as well as in act is, as I have said before, impossible of fulfillment because again the people of this country, thinking things through calmly and without prejudice, have been and are making up their minds about relative merits of current events on other continents."

"It is a fact increasingly manifest that presentation of real news has sharpened the minds and the judgment of men and women everywhere in these days of real public discussion—and we Americans begin to know the difference between the truth on the one side and the falsehood on the other. No matter how often the falsehood is iterated and reiterated, repetition does not transform a lie into a truth."

BELGIAN DEFENCES
READY, SAYS KING

BRUSSELS (AP)—Leopold, King of the Belgians, says that if Belgium were invaded now her people would fight "with the same conviction" as in 1914, but "with forces 10 times stronger."

Speaking by radio and addressing the people of the United States through a forum conducted by the King early today reaffirmed Belgium's desire for peace and neutrality, and he asked for support of United States in this stand.

"We are prepared," he said, "to exert our entire strength in order to uphold our independence."

He recalled that "exactly 25 years ago, day for day, a Belgium army under command of my father, King Albert, arrested, after a hard battle, the progress of a cruel invasion."

In his six-minute address King Leopold said "we cannot believe that the present belligerents would fail to respect our neutrality," adding that "we trust in the word they have given us."

"Belgium, neutral, loyal and strong," he said, "fulfills an eventually peaceful mission. She stands with other neutrals as a stronghold for peace."

ONTARIO SUSPENDS
MUNICIPAL POLLS

TORONTO (CP)—Suspension of municipal elections in Ontario after January 1, 1940, for a two-year period "for the duration of the war if that be longer," is planned by the government. The decision was announced by Premier Hepburn.

Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Municipal Affairs, issued a supplementary statement, explaining the policy. He said it would effect important municipal savings.

"This will create a moratorium on municipal politics for the duration of the war," Mr. Cross said. "This announcement is made so that, at the approaching municipal elections, the electors may place in office strong and efficient councils who can direct the full resources of their communities toward the prosecution of the war."

The Minister of Municipal Affairs said necessary legislation would be introduced at the next session of the Legislature.

Mr. Cross said similar legislation was passed in Britain during the first Great War and was again before the British House of Commons.

The House of Representatives un-American Committee charged that the league was a "front" for Communist activity.

Pope Condemns Dictators, Offers Poles Consolation

CASTEL GANDOLFO (AP)—Pope Pius XII today condemned governments which assume "that absolute autonomy which belongs exclusively to the Supreme Maker" and offered consolation to dismembered Poland.

In the first encyclical of his reign the Pontiff, after recounting the failure of his efforts for peace, also pleaded for settlement at the end of the war which would avoid the errors of past treaties which failed to bring lasting peace.

He blamed denial of "the authority of God and the sway of His law" for the rise of governments which make the state "the last end of life."

"As we write these lines," the Pope said, "the terrible news comes to us that the dread tempest of war is already raging in spite of all our efforts to avert it."

He said "new errors" added to the "doctrinal aberrations of the past" have pushed these "to extremes which lead inevitably to a drift toward chaos."

"Once the authority of God and the sway of His law are denied in this way," Pope Pius declared in his letter of more than 11,000 words to all Catholic bishops, "civil authority as an inevitable result tends to attribute to itself that absolute autonomy which belongs exclusively to the Supreme Maker."

"It puts itself in the place of the Almighty and elevates the state or group into the last end of life, the supreme criterion of moral and juridical order, and therefore forbids every appeal to the principles of natural reason and Christian conscience."

RESURRECTION OF POLAND
"Fortunately, false principles do not always exercise their full influence, especially when the age-old Christian traditions on which peoples have been nurtured remain still deeply, even if unconsciously, rooted in their hearts."

"This was interpreted as a reference to such devoutly Catholic people as the Poles."

Poland, the Pontiff said, "has the right to generous brotherly sympathy of the whole world while it awaits . . . the hour of resurrection in harmony with principles of justice and true peace."

The Pope appealed for peace treaties at the end of this war, which would avoid the "sacrifices and sufferings" which failed to bring lasting peace in the past.

The war, he said, would fall to impose a decisive change in conditions—unless followed by treaties of peace "animated by justice and by equity toward all."

He warned "there is danger lest settlements be born in such conditions" as "sacrifices and sufferings."

At the same time, he said, respect for treaties was indispensable to peace.

Pope Pius described his "expectations and conviction" that each party will respect its pledged word in treaties as an indispensable condition of peace.

He said peace could not be achieved until "both sides are ready to enter into discussion and avoid recourse to force or threats of peace in case of delays, hindrances, changes or disputes."

REVISION OF TREATIES
The Pope acknowledged that treaties might become outdated with the passing of time. In such cases, he said, "resource should be had to frank discussion with a view to modifying the treaty or making another in its stead."

"But to consider treaties on principle as ephemeral," he declared, "and tacitly to assume the authority of rescinding them unilaterally when they no longer are to one's advantage would be to abolish all mutual trust among states."

Turning from causes of the present war to prospects of a more enduring settlement at its conclusion, the Pontiff asked whether there would be a new international order "animated by justice and by equity towards all" or "repetition of ancient and recent errors."

The hour of victory, he warned, is "the hour of temptation" and the danger exists that "settlements and decisions born in such condition may be nothing else than injustice under the cloak of justice."

The only hope for the future, the Pontiff said, was that the new order, instead of resting on "quicksands of ephemeral standards that depend only on selfish interests of groups and individuals," should be based on an "unshakable foundation on the solid rock of natural law and Divine revelation."

The Pope revealed with sorrow the failure of his own efforts to such a scourge from their peoples, trusting in millions of souls in all countries of every sphere who tall not for justice alone but for love and mercy."

BENEFITS FOR ALL
The Pope said it was the function of the state to "direct private individual activities toward the common good."

"That good can neither be defined according to arbitrary ideas, nor can it accept for its standard primarily the material prosperity of society," he continued.

"To consider the state something ultimate to which everything else should be subordinated and deflected can not fail to harm the true lasting prosperity of nations."

"This can happen either when unrestricted dominion comes to be conferred on the state as having a mandate from the nation, the people or even a social class, or when the state arrogates such dominion to itself as absolute master despotically without any mandate whatsoever."

The Pontiff promised to do all in his power to hasten return of peace. He would continue his efforts, he said, "trusting in those statesmen who before the outbreak of war nobly toiled to avert avert war. His Holiness said he considered it his duty to "try every means to spare mankind and Christianity the horrors of world conflagration even at the risk of having our intentions and our aims misunderstood."

Our advice, if heard with respect, was not, however, followed," he observed.

Rhodesian Air Units for Allies

SALISBURY, Southern Rhodesia (CP)—The British government has accepted Southern Rhodesia's offer to maintain three air squadrons on any front, it was announced today.

The officer commanding the Southern Rhodesia air force will go to London to discuss the offer, which is said to provide that the country will at first be responsible only for elementary training and that Britain will supply additional equipment needed.

News of the offer was made known following an announcement by Prime Minister G. M. Huggins that his government would seek power to enforce general conscription for service either overseas or at home.

The Prime Minister indicated that with the institution of a conscription measure, men required for home service on the economic front but who wish to serve in the army could be required to act where the government felt their services most necessary.

The Way to Victory

HOW TO WIN THE WAR IS THE SUBJECT of the leading editorial in the current issue of Canadian Business. It makes the broad and sensible assertion that the government must direct the activities of the country in the light of the demands of the conflict, while business must turn out the materials essential for fighting the common enemy. Under eight headings for each agency it allocates the respective responsibility. The details follow.

Business must: 1. Dedicate to the nation its facilities and its financial resources for the production of materials needed for the war. 2. Submit co-operatively to that regulation and control which may be necessary to concentrate and unite the economic energy of the country. 3. Organize itself so as to be ready to advise government on the problems of wartime economy. 4. Apply, before beginning any new business enterprise, the acid test of—Will the men, money and material, when applied, contribute to winning the war? 5. Give priority, voluntarily, to government orders of essential war materials. 6. Increase its operating efficiency in production and distribution in order to save men and materials for essential services. Mere conveniences, permissible in peace, are serious waste in war. 7. Assist the government wherever possible in easing the sacrifices made by employees who enlist in the country's armed forces. 8. Serve as individuals on public or private wartime assignments. When Canada is at war, all citizens are at war and are therefore expected to apply their energy where it is most needed.

Then the editorial says that government must: 1. Provide wise and constructive leadership. Wartime control over business carries with it the responsibility that the control be exercised so as to create confidence and produce results but impose no unnecessary hardship. 2. Maintain a war cabinet of ministers chosen for their ability, experience and integrity. 3. Avoid the extravagance of party politics, prevent patronage in war purchases and guard against political preference in wartime activities. 4. Consult with men who know the infinite ramifications and delicate sensitiveness of business. 5. Make unmistakably clear the operation of wartime regulations and control, so that business may know each day how to meet its problems. 6. Eliminate superfluous services and expenditures so as to release money and manpower for essential war activities. 7. Select men and women for wartime duties according to their qualifications, not for their willingness to help. 8. Mobilize and conserve for their most effective wartime use the country's natural resources.

Only a complete and generous understanding between the two agencies of government and business will insure the 100 per cent effort that will be required to defeat the system against which the Empire has pooled its might. The Canadian people will not fail to respond to effective leadership under both heads.

No Change at Cranbrook

CRANBROOK'S BY-ELECTION YESTERDAY has not changed the distribution of political strength in the Legislature which will meet for its third session of the present Parliament next Tuesday. Twenty-seven-year-old Arnold McGrath carried the Liberal banner and polled 129 votes in excess of the combined total recorded for the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation and Independent Liberal candidates. In accordance with the commendable decision of Mr. R. L. Maitland, opposition leader in the House, the Conservative party entered no candidate and took no active part in this first wartime contest in British Columbia.

It was not to be supposed that a comparatively newcomer to the political arena of Cranbrook would duplicate the large majority accorded to Mr. MacPherson in 1937. The former Minister of Public Works was well and favorably known throughout the constituency, not only as a useful citizen and a popular figure among a wide circle of political friends and opponents alike, but also as an efficient member of the cabinet in charge of one of the most important spending departments of the public service. For one so young, with little previous experience of political life and custom, Mr. McGrath did exceedingly well and both he and the government are to be congratulated on the outcome.

They Mean Business

GREAT BRITAIN ISSUED A CALL LAST night for volunteers between the ages of 22 and 35 years—for cavalry, artillery, engineering corps, tank and infantry service. It is the first of its kind since the outbreak of war. This morning in Whitehall applicants were waiting outside the doors of the central recruiting depot long before they opened; afterward a steady stream of men of all ages thronged the building.

Anxious Adolf is trying to saddle the blame for the war on Great Britain. It is his business if he insists on fooling himself. What is annoying him, of course, is a realization of the fact that he believed Herr von Ribbentrop when he told him the British government would not sanction a fight. More irritating still, however, is the reminder from the pages of history that while Britain may be slow to anger, she stays with a scrap to the end—and finishes on her feet.

Fine Points of Neutrality

WHEN IS NEUTRALITY AND WHAT? The question is prompted by the fact that the other day the New York Coffee Exchange was startled when it received a bid from the Soviet government for a large but undisclosed amount of coffee. Moscow stipulated that it would be transported in Russian ships and, to all intents and purposes, the projected transaction was based on correct legal grounds. Can this have any relation to the "batch" of coffee consigned to Herr Hitler—and picked up by the British Navy?

The interesting part of the business, however, is that Russia has never been a large coffee buyer in New York or even in South America. Russia is in general a tea-drinking country. Why this sudden rush for coffee? The simplest explanation is that the coffee is going to Leningrad, and from there straight to Germany, a great coffee-drinking nation which has been restive under a shortage of it even before war was declared. If Germany is able to get coffee through Russia, therefore, is this commodity which is considered almost a necessity by Hitler and his 90,000,000 compatriots to be brought within the category of war material? Or is physical or mental ammunition exempt?

Labor Speaks Out

BRITISH LABOR IS BEING TOLD IN Nazi propaganda that British Labor does not want to fight in the war. Deputy Leader of the Parliamentary Labor Party Arthur Greenwood has issued a statement today informing Germany that "nothing is further from the truth," that while the British worker "hates war," he also hates dictatorship, its brutal methods, and still more what they bring with them. And Mr. Greenwood rubs this in by telling the oligarchy at Berlin "there are hundreds of thousands of workers who would prefer to be in the trenches, at sea, or in the air, but who must remain at their posts and manufacture arms."

It is these arms, incidentally, that will help to give effect to that "inexorable determination among British workers to end for ever the regime of organized 'gangsterism' which has kept Europe in a state of turmoil for years, destroyed the liberty of Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland, and threatens the liberty of other nations." Finally, Mr. Greenwood makes this definite statement, which the German people and neutrals will note:

"The British Labor Party has accepted Hitler's challenge. Although it is not a part of the government, it will attempt by all means to support its action in declaring its intention of finally crushing Hitlerism. In this attitude the British worker has the support of the Labor movement in the Dominions."

Mr. Greenwood's language ought to be plain enough for everybody to understand. It is not new, of course, but it seems necessary to restate British aims about every other day if only to present a contrast of actual conditions—of the actual state of mind existing in Great Britain—with the stupid stuff which goes by the name of German propaganda. The Herr Doktor Goebbels evidently is sadly in need of material.

A Community Matter

WE CAN UNDERSTAND THE FEELING of local contributors and those who voluntarily assume responsibility for raising the Community Chest fund that some outside firms have in the past not responded in keeping with the importance of their branches here or in line with other national and provincial organizations. However, we cannot but feel there is justification for the confidence of the campaign executive that this year, with the appeal being jointly with the Canadian Red Cross, there will be no reason for criticism.

We have heard no more of that great war invention, the death ray, that killed mice at a range of two feet. Maybe the mouse moved back.

A Variable Tax

From Ladysmith Chronicle
The principle of equity in taxation is absent from the 8 per cent on domestic electric current rates, because if there is any commodity in Canada with a variety of from plain to fancy prices, that commodity is electric current. Domestic consumer rates range from 1 cent a kilowatt to 15—and in certain instances—even higher.

That means the consumer of 50 kilowatts at the 1-cent rate pays a war tax of 4 cents; while the consumer of 50 kilowatts at 10 cents per kilowatt pays a war tax of 40 cents. Tobacco, rent, clothing and a million other things sold throughout the length and breadth of the country cling closely to a standard price. A suit of clothes, for instance, that is $40 in Ladysmith, is also $40 in Vancouver and the same in Winnipeg. The rental that is $20 in this city is practically the same in similar assessment areas in Victoria and Toronto. Standard brands of tobacco are standard prices from coast to coast, and if we pay a 10 or 20 per cent tax here, we have the solace of knowing the people of Halifax are doing the same.

But here in Ladysmith, in the tax on electricity, we pay eight times what the citizen of Winnipeg pays for the same service and the same war. We pay four times what the consumer pays in Vancouver, double the tax that is paid in Victoria. And there are communities that pay double the Ladysmith rate.

Thoughts

And they spoke unto him, saying, If thou wilt be a servant unto this people this day, and wilt serve them, and answer them, and speak good words to them, then they will be thy servants for ever.—I Kings 12:7.

We become willing servants to the good by the bonds their virtues lay upon us.—Sir Sidney.

Loose Ends

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

GREAT THOUGHT

THE OTHER DAY, in a serious humor, I pointed in this column to a notable survey conducted by the Ladies' Home Journal into the condition of the modern American woman. The Journal, as you may recall, if you have a memory for larger matters, discovered that the modern woman is really just an old home body, painted over. It found that the modern woman was really interested in marriage, was going in for bustles and "weaving blue ribbons through her lingerie," to give the emancipation of woman its technical description, as used by that undoubted authority, The Journal.

And finally in my analysis of this phenomenon, of which I took a grave view, I said the modern woman was not old-fashioned. To prove that the female is becoming a dominant predatory animal, engulfing the male, I pointed to the rich symbolism of a girl in slacks walking arm in arm with a soldier in kilts.

Almost immediately—I will not say as a result of my intervention, though it seems likely, but certainly by another of those coincidences that shows how great minds think alike—almost immediately, the editor of the Ladies' Home Journal, Mr. Bruce Gould, having read my comprehensive study, wrote me personally to enclose a huge sample advertisement for his excellent magazine.

This advertisement shows a picture of a girl in slacks with her back turned to the camera, looking fetchingly over her shoulder. And the Journal adds some ripe words to this effect: "Don't be deceived by the slacks. She may seem to be masculine, but there's a view from the southeast that gives her dead away." And after this piquant and arresting statement, the Journal adds that "men and women are not the same. They are different."

Mr. Gould, I salute a profound and original thought.

WOMAN TROUBLE

THE LITTLE BOY from next door tells me, like Mr. Gould, is having woman trouble again. As I gather the rather sordid story, he was down to Dickie's house today and there Dickie's sister, aged four, proposed to him, frankly, brutally, in the manner of the modern woman, as distinguished from the Journal's denatured version of her.

The little boy from next door tells me that firmly and politely he refused to entertain the proposal, since he had long ago decided to avoid marriage so that he might concentrate on his career as a cowboy in the Cariboo.

But Dickie's sister is persistent. She is one of those masterful women that the Journal's advertising department never heard of. She rushed into the henhouse and emerged with a number of eggs which she proceeded to throw at the gentleman who had tilted to her. They were only bantam eggs; to be sure, but my informant says that even a bantam egg can be decidedly disagreeable if it catches you squarely in the face.

And while threatening to throw the eggs, the lady pointed out to the gentleman that he was almost a Boy Scout, who was supposed to do a good turn, like marriage, every day. "Of course," he told me, "I'm not really a Scout yet, only a tenderpad. I haven't been worn in yet. The wearing in isn't till next Wednesday at our bun feed. But she wouldn't listen to me when I said I wasn't a Boy Scout yet and not even a Wolf Cub. She just got mad and started to throw the eggs and when they broke I knew they were pretty old ones by the smell of them. So I had to promise to marry her."

He said he didn't see how he could get out of it as a man of honor and a Wolf Cub, about to be worn in.

NOW, MISS FOLEY

ACCORDING TO the Vancouver Sun, Miss May Foley, Massachusetts State College nutritionist, has launched a bold campaign to emancipate the carrot. She has discovered that the carrot contains the vital vitamin necessary for good vision, so that if a man eats a meal of carrots he can go out and drive his car safely and feel fine. Eating carrots, they say, is almost as good as getting tight except that it lacks glamour.

I wish to take a firm stand against Miss Foley. I stand boldly against the vitamin. I stand with the carrot. I stand with the carrot in its natural state and in the nude. The carrot needs no fancy cooking. It needs no scientific revelation. It needs no vitamins. It needs no help from Miss Foley.

A carrot, freshly pulled from the ground and eaten raw, has about it a nobility that no nutritionist from Boston could ever understand. They may understand the baked bean down there—indeed, they do understand it, as I have reason to know and they can make a fish-chowder too good for the gods—but they don't know anything about the carrot. Only the man who has grown it knows the carrot and he requires no supernatural sanctions, no scientific revelations.

My theory about a carrot is very simple. I do not accept the proposition that it is a problem in chemistry. I do not agree that it needs emancipation. I do not believe it is a cure for poor driving. I do not think it is a substitute for getting tight. I do not think it is a home for vitamins. I deny that it is merely the plaything of the nutritionists.

My theory is entirely original and very bold. A carrot, Miss Foley, is a carrot. Ask the man like me who has grown one.

A new dance, which permits two girls to waltz with one man, is designed to give wall-flowers a break. We'd say it's the lucky man who's getting the break.

Not the War We Expected

By WALTER LIPPMANN

THE WAR which is actually being fought is different from the war which was anticipated. Until as late as approximately the middle of July every indication seemed to point to the outbreak of a world war: that is to say, a war in which Germany, Japan and then even Italy would attack together, and carry the war into the Pacific, the Mediterranean, and through Spain and Africa into the Atlantic.

The actual war, however, is not a world war. It is not even a general European war. Though it is a big war, it is a localized war in which the noncombatant powers are more numerous than the belligerents. Moreover, the war has thus far at least been of a radically different character than the popular imagination supposed it would be. The war at sea is not yet in any sense the kind of challenge to British sea power which we should have seen had Japan and Italy struck toward Hongkong, Singapore, Suez and Gibraltar; the Nazis are waging what is not more than a guerrilla war against the blockading fleet.

In the air the dreaded blitzkrieg by thousands of bombers has not yet materialized; the British and French have been allowed to mobilize completely without any interference from the supposedly irresistible Nazi air force. On land there are no signs of an offensive which aims at a decision on the field of battle.

INSTEAD OF an expanding war which drags in the whole world, we see the spectacle of a contracting war. The Mediterranean nations, the Balkan nations, the American nations, and perhaps even the Far Eastern nations, are tending to draw together in local groups, and then into increasingly concerted action among the groups, to support one another in the preservation of their common neutrality. Thus the American nations that met at Panama have proclaimed their solidarity with the Scandinavian nations when they met at Oslo; both groups would surely welcome the opportunity to proclaim their solidarity with the southern neutrals, the Balkan nations and with Turkey, with Italy, with Spain and Portugal.

The well-informed Japanese know that the ultimate aim of the United States is not to quarrel with them, to strangle them or to make them vulnerable to their Russian danger but to reach a settlement which would establish a genuine new order of things in the Pacific.

NO SALARIES

To the Editor:—Will you allow me the courtesy of your space to dispel a rumor which has been brought to the attention of the committee of the Victoria Red Cross Society, and which is to the effect that salaries are being paid to its workers.

May I assure the public, each one of whom is interested in the Red Cross, that no salary has been, is, or will be paid to any Red Cross worker, either in this office, the distributing centre or the superfluous store. All work is of a voluntary nature.

J. G. AUSTIN,
President, Victoria City and District Branch, Canadian Red Cross Society.

"RICE BOWL FESTIVAL"

To the Editor:—The Chinese are a peace-loving, home-loving people. Even though they are one of the oldest and largest of the nations of the world, they have never cherished any ambition to subjugate other nations. They are quite willing to let other nations live their own lives in their own way.

Now they are defending their homes and their liberties against the depredations of a nation which boasts of a self-imposed mission to rule the earth and impose its type of culture on other countries, not by persuasion, but by fire and sword, robbery and murder. China has resisted and is resisting with incredible bravery and determination, fighting for the same reason as the Belgians fought in 1914, and the Poles in 1939.

We cannot be indifferent, for we, too, are threatened. Canada is too rich a prize to be overlooked. If Japan wins in Asia, her eyes will turn to this continent.

That is the selfish reason for our wanting China to win her war. We have other reasons, too, for wishing to help our Chinese citizens in their drive for funds. The Chinese people of Victoria have ever been generous in their contributions to public welfare.

Now that we are at war ourselves we should be more sympathetic to all suffering people, and in our zeal for our own Red Cross and other patriotic funds, we must not allow other funds to languish. This is the time to give. What good will our money be to us if the enemies of freedom win?

CONVICTS FOR ARMY?

From Woodstock Sentinel-Review

"Let these men off on suspended sentence and put them in the army," a lawyer urged in magistrate's court at Lindsay, when four young men were convicted of several burglaries and break-in attempts. Sentence was reserved.

There have been numerous appeals of this sort lately in police courts, by counsel for defendants charged with or convicted of various offences. Magistrates have not in all cases been favorable to the idea of substituting enlistment for civil penalties, and one said of a certain defendant that he would not want such a man in the army.

The King's Regulations, in sections applying to the permanent force, require that candidates for enlistment "must be of good character." Elsewhere it is provided that a man discharged from any of His Majesty's forces for misconduct or with a character inferior to "good" will be ineligible for enlistment in the active militia. Evidently it is not contemplated that the uniform shall be worn by riff-raff.

ALLIED STRATEGY—ALONG THE WESTWALL

From a World War Veteran

Those who complain that the Allies are stalling on the western front and that the war is phony are not in a good position to complain. It is not their war, to start with, and they are not in possession of the confidence of General Gamelin. To anybody familiar with the ghastly sacrifices of manpower made between 1914 and 1918 by generals trying to achieve limited objectives and to follow out plans, the Allied strategy to date seems well-calculated, not to weaken morale at home and at the same time well calculated to enable the British and French fleets to make the blockade felt.

Brown coal, used extensively in Europe, was formed mostly from swamp deposits of cypress.

OFFICERS ELECTED BY NATIVE SONS

James E. Givens was elected president of the Victoria Assembly No. 1, Native Sons of Canada, at the annual meeting held in the A.O.F. Hall last night. Other officers elected at last night's meeting were: First vice-president, Fred Marconi; second vice-president, Edward Logan; treasurer, Cyril Ashorn; financial secretary, Percy Fitzsimmons (re-elected); recording secretary, Robert D. MacLachlan (re-elected); historian, T. A. Jacklin; chaplain, Arthur Barber; sergeant-at-arms, George Bowden; inner guard, Joseph Levy, and outer guard, William Frith.

A unanimous resolution was passed by the assembly to withdraw its delegate from the Democratic Rights Movement, which is now being organized in Victoria. The Native Sons believe that the aims and objects of the movement are not in accord with theirs, and that there is the danger of re-creating Canada's and Great Britain's war endeavors.

Officers of last night's election will be installed for the 1940 term at a banquet on Thursday, November 9.

On Saturday, November 11, the newly-appointed president, James E. Givens, will place a wreath on the Cenotaph at Parliament Square.

UNIVERSITY WINS SCHOOL CADET CUP

The challenge cup presented by the Vancouver I.O.D.E. was won this year, for the second time in succession and the seventh in all, by the University School 170th Cadet Corps with a score of 925 out of 1,000.

This cup is presented to the school cadet corps obtaining the highest marks in the annual inspection by the staff officers of M.D. 11, and is the only award open to all schools of the province. The Lieutenant-Governor's Shield is limited to the public schools of the City of Victoria, and the 170th is ineligible to compete.

Presentation of the cup was made Wednesday at the school by Mrs. K. C. Symons. The headmaster welcomed Mrs. Symons and briefly outlined the history of the corps and the cup which was then presented to Cadet-Capt. J. O. Thorne, who has succeeded Cadet-Capt. D. S. Craig, who commanded at the time of the inspection. The corps was drawn up in ceremonial parade and the presentation was made in the presence of the staff of the school and numerous friends and parents. Lieut. E. Robertson, G.S.O. 3, was present to represent M.D. 11.

Fear All England Will Go Cockney Under War Shifts

By JACK BRAYLEY

LONDON (CP) — The quiet green lanes of England are resounding these days to the chatter of the raucous Cockney. And where it will all end is a question wrangling the brows of societies for the preservation of country dialects.

For the stubborn, unyielding Londoner who slurs over syllables with contempt, drops his where they should be and puts them in where they shouldn't be, has never been known to concede an inch and worse still has a reputation for being contagious.

So as thousands of London's evacuees poured into the heretofore undisturbed sanctuaries of Wilts, Bucks, Berks and all the rest the protagonists of local culture emitted a horrified and somewhat wry "Coo blimey"—an expression this correspondent has since heard rolling unexpectedly from the slow tongue of a "Zumpert" bumpkin. The epidemic has started.

IT MIGHT STICK

What chance has the chomping splutter of Wilts with this great est sabboteur of all English dialects? None at all say the experts. Cockney—sprawled and in spreading stamps out all traces of rival and perhaps older tongues. Hence if the war keeps the Cockneys in the country long enough the experts predict there won't be a "Z" left in Somerset or an "h" in Sussex—counties which for centuries have been distinguished for giving these letters more than full value.

Some predict that only Lancashire and Yorkshire have stout enough accents to withstand the invasion. Others are convinced that even these fortresses will fall.

The critics point out that if one Cockney can correct a whole school surely there is only one hopeless prospect for the country dialects in villages where populations have been trebled by the influx from London.

And they tell the story of the prosperous Cockney bookmaker who decided to send his son to a public school—which of course is a private school in Canada. "Now, chum," he said to the very Oxford headmaster, "I want the young 'un to get a good belly full of learnin' and especially a haccen't."

"Quite," replied the nasal-toned product of Oxford. Six months later the bookmaker called for his son and while waiting for him to pack asked the headmaster what kind of a job he had done.

"Well, Lor' lumme, guv'nor, strike me pink if yer Alfie 'in't 'arf a bright 'un..." the headmaster began. The father sighed resignedly. The whole school was speaking Cockney.

LONDON'S IDEA

F. W. Thomas, humorist in the London Star, claims that a teacher in Berkshire started out with her little Londoners something like this:

"Master Clark, I shall be forced to reprimand you severely if you do not behave."

Three weeks later she had changed to something like this: "Look, 'ere young Nobby, I shan't 'arf fetch you a back 'ander of you don't turn it in."

Meantime, while the preservers of the dialect try to figure a way to curb Cockney, the cheerful Londoners are making the best of their "liday" getting acquainted with cows which look like the pictures on milk wagons which deliver in their crowded city districts.

COURT OF APPEAL SITTING CLOSES

The Court of Appeal completed its Victoria sitting yesterday afternoon, reserving judgment on the appeal of W. E. Williams, E. D. Barrow, Acton Kilby and the Lower Mainland Dairy Products Board et al, appellants, against a finding by Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in favor of Turner's Dairy, et al, respondents.

Following completion of the case of Senator J. W. deB. Farris, K.C., for the respondent, C. H. Locke K.C., reaffirmed the position that the examination of Mr. Williams had to be confined to the issues between him and the plaintiff companies. Mr. Justice McDonald, trial judge, had found in favor of the plaintiffs in the court below where they had brought action against members of the board requiring them to answer other questions.

Mr. Locke contended the only question before the court was whether or not its orders were within the powers vested in the board and what evidence could be presented to establish that proposition. No authorities could be cited to cover evidence which the dairy companies sought to elicit through cross-examination of Mr. Williams, he held.

INDIAN FREED OF MURDER COUNT

NANAIMO (CP)—An assize court jury last night acquitted Simon McLean of the murder of Isabella Rice, five-year-old Indian child who was criminally assaulted and strangled and her body thrown into a clump of bushes on the Nanaimo reserve last May 7. The jury deliberated two and a half hours.

Isabella, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Rice, disappeared from her reservation home May 6. Her body was found next day, stuffed into a burlap sack and partially hidden in bushes near the railway track which cuts through the reserve.

McLean, 29-year-old Indian longshoreman, was arrested the Sunday after the child's body was found, and went on trial last Monday.

Canada Studies War Farm Needs

OTTAWA (CP)—Agricultural officials here are finding it difficult yet to estimate how extensive an adjustment will be imposed on Canada's production of foodstuffs by wartime needs of this country and its Allies. An attempt will be made to avoid any marked disruption of the agricultural industry, so that Canada's domestic needs will be met normally and the end of the war will not create a crisis for Canadian agriculture, but production will be adjusted to meet the requirements of Britain and France as far as possible.

Until the food control authority of the United Kingdom is in a position to estimate more specifically its food import requirements for the next year or two, however, Canadian authorities will be unable to give Canadian farmers greatly detailed advice as to the prospective wartime markets overseas.

It is expected this situation will be considerably clarified shortly by consultations with Resources Minister T. A. Crerar and Canadian officials with the various British authorities.

A considerably increased demand is assured for such concentrated foodstuffs as bacon and cheese. Great Britain is not likely to import any quantity of butter from Canada, as this is being obtained still from the Scandinavian countries in fair quantities. Considerable stores of vegetable oils, used in making margarine, are understood to be held in Britain, too.

The British poultry market, which has been steadily increasing its takings of Canadian poultry in recent years, has been closed to Canada under the British import licensing regulations, presumably because more concentrated foods are desired, mainly on account of lack of shipping space. On the other hand, a small new market for Canadian onions is looked for in Britain, Dutch onions not being shipped across the English Channel as usual because of shipping hazards.

In the first Great War, it was about the second year that the food picture became clearer.

SUPPLIES STORED

This time, Britain is believed to have accumulated considerable stocks of many staple foods. Anticipating greater shipping difficulties later, too, Britain has been doing more than the usual amount of food buying from distant parts right now, suggesting that the nearer Canadian supplies will be left as a reserve for more inconvenient times. Frozen beef is being taken from Argentina but some increased demand for Canadian beef is also expected. The wheat situation is far from clear at present, but substantial Allied demand is looked for as the war proceeds. Wool production in Canada will undoubtedly increase for domestic consumption, even though Canada will not fill all its own needs in this regard. Flaxseed production will be stepped up three or four times next year, to meet the needs of northern Ireland, which is no longer able to obtain its usual supplies from Russia.

Meanwhile, the agricultural supplies committee here is completing a survey of potential production in Canada and studying the experiences of the last war, pending receipts of indications of wartime requirements.

B.C. Air Council Returns Leaders

With three exceptions, officers and executive members of the British Columbia Aviation Council during the 1939 term were returned to office for the ensuing year, as that body completed its annual meeting yesterday afternoon in the City Hall.

The re-election placed Alderman Halford D. Wilson, Vancouver, again in the presidency, with Mayor T. A. Love, Grand Forks, first vice-president, Alderman J. Scott, Kamloops, second vice-president, and Alderman Harry J. Sullivan, K.C., New Westminster, secretary-treasurer. Alderman Scott took the place of Mayor C. E. Scanlan, also of Kamloops.

Two changes were made in the executive. Alderman J. H. Horn, Kelowna, replaced Clifford Grey, all, Pentteton, and Mayor C. A. Barber, Chilliwack, succeeded W. M. Archibald, Creston. Other members are W. A. Rundle, Vancouver; Mayor V. B. Harrison, Nanaimo; Mayor A. M. Patterson, Prince George, and Alderman Archie Wills, Victoria. Edwin T. Orr, Vancouver, was returned as executive secretary.

Alderman Wilson voiced his thanks to the council for the confidence it had shown in him and his officers and pledged their best efforts during the year to come.

Votes of thanks were extended to the executive, to Victoria for furnishing convention quarters, the press, and other individuals and agencies who had assisted the council during the year.

As it resumed its deliberations in the afternoon the council endorsed a move to have the Meteorological Service of Canada conduct a survey of weather conditions from Williams Lake to the U.S. border, in the interests of safety for fliers.

A balance of $240.35 was reported by the auditor, following disbursements on this year's operations.

Alderman John Worthington, Victoria, raised question of the extent of operations of an air plane factory in British Columbia. Would it, he asked, cover engines as well as bodies?

Alderman H. Wilson saw no reason why it should not. He remarked on the size and number of factories producing planes on the U.S. Pacific Coast, suggesting the western seaboard was admirably adapted to such an industry.

Edwin Orr, secretary-treasurer of the council, indicated engine and body construction were two separate items.

The incoming executive was asked to investigate the question, with a view to future construction activities in British Columbia.

W. A. Rundle, Vancouver Board of Trade, won support for an application to the meteorological survey to study conditions in the Albern region to reduce hazards on flights to Zeballos.

A. Carter Guest, director of B.C. of civil aviation, outlined the rate-fixing arrangements for air transport.

In respect to federal assistance given in airport construction, he stated private interests did not receive aid. The department had been liberal in its help to some of the outlying municipalities, he said.

Comparative uniformity was imposed on operators for fares on certain scheduled routes. Such rate structures were partly determined by equipment, personnel and other incidentals, he said.

Alderman Wills asked if there was any information available on the attitude of the authorities towards permitting Empire student pilots to use civil airports for training. Such information had not been received, Alderman Wilson said.

Reopening the rate discussion, Mr. Rundle said such issues were now matters for settlement by the board of transport commissioners.

Walter Gilbert, superintendent in Vancouver for Canadian Airways Ltd., told the council commercial aviation considered the provincial body of great assistance to that branch of the industry. The commercial interests were aided by listening to debate in the council session, since such discussions informed the companies of the wishes and needs of municipalities and districts.

Alderman Worthington put forward a suggestion for air ambulance service from remote parts to the larger hospitals of the province. The council considered the matter one beyond its direct jurisdiction. It noted, however, planes were used extensively for mercy flights.

Tribute was paid by Alderman Worthington to Alderman Harry Sullivan, K.C., for the excellent by-laws he had drafted for the council.

A special broadcast will be heard from Glasgow on Sunday from the B.B.C. network to the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's network at 6 in the evening, Victoria time, to commemorate the founding of the Boys' Brigade, organized in 1883 by

Victoria Passenger On Harding Voyage

A personal account of the tempestuous voyage across the submarine-threatened Atlantic on S.S. President Harding, which was tossed in the worst storm in years, with injuries to many passengers, has been received in Victoria by Mrs. C. T. Ward, 1415 Cook Street, from her daughter, Mrs. B. C. Timberley, formerly Miss Margaret Philion of this city.

Mrs. Timberley describes the crowded conditions on the liner, with cots in rows in the public rooms. She and her five-year-old daughter Barlen were in a lower berth; in the upper was an elderly lady. Mr. Timberley was in a cabin with five other men. Across from Mrs. Timberley was a family of six, one a baby of five weeks.

The first bit of excitement on the voyage was when the President Harding rushed to the rescue of the crew of the torpedoed British freighter Heronspool.

SAW SUBMARINE

"We got up on deck just in time to see the lights of a submarine in the distance," Mrs. Timberley said in her letter, "and a lifeboat full of men being taken aboard. Then we saw a lifeboat full of men on the other side."

"It turned out we had only seen them by accident, as we were running off our course, in answer to an SOS from a French oil tanker. We continued on our way to the tanker—then there was another surprise—a big destroyer was near, and on the horizon a thick cloud of smoke. It was a burning boat. We all watched and soon a second destroyer came near. Our boat stopped, turned around and made off in the direction of the burning ship. There was no sign of the crew and we all worried about what happened—but they seem to think the crew was picked up earlier.

"We are now in the midst of a hurricane, and it's terrible. Two ladies have just been thrown across the smoke room, against the wall; one has cut her head open—blood all over. The food has been swept off the table, right across the floor, trays are crashing everywhere—two men are discussing cheerfully the possibilities of our ever arriving in New York."

CRASHING DISHES

"This afternoon a crew man was operated on for appendicitis—he's progressing well, but must feel terrible with the boat pitching like this. Chairs keep falling over, there's just been a terrible crash, every chair in the room has fallen over, ash trays swept to the floor, dishes crashing in the distance—two old men playing chess have had their chessmen rolled all over the floor and are scrambling after them.

"The wind was dreadful.

Crashes keep on all over the ship. Everything was thrown off the shelves. We couldn't stand on our feet, and tried to pick up things, but it got worse, so it was hopeless.

"You can't imagine the horrors of the night and yesterday—the blood and filth and debris."

Mr. and Mrs. Timberley, who have been in London for the last three years, are now in Montreal, where they will remain indefinitely.

Oak Bay Council TRANSPORTATION PLAN DISCUSSED

The inter-municipal committee studying the proposed new transportation system for Greater Victoria will be asked to give the Oak Bay municipal council a report as to whether it would be advisable to proceed with its plans under special circumstances caused by the war, it was decided at last night's meeting of the council.

The letter received from the transportation sub-committee, composed of municipal clerks and solicitors, asking for precise instructions on several features of the proposed transportation franchise it had drafted for Greater Victoria, was tabled until word was received whether the committee planned to carry on with the scheme.

The council was informed in a communication from the B.C. Electric Railway Co., Ltd., that after long negotiations an arrangement had been arrived at whereby the company will put into effect certain promised reductions in its lighting schedules. These reductions will be laid before the Public Utilities Commission immediately and, if approved, will at once be made effective. The letter went on to say the company was pleased to report the new schedule would be available to all places of business and all residents in the whole municipality of Oak Bay. This also includes a strip of the Uplands which is outside the three-mile limit and which did not come under the former schedule for the municipality.

"In the event of any men joining the forces will their respective positions be held for them at the end of hostilities, their right of seniority, and their superannuation contributions be taken care of?" Those were the questions submitted to the Oak Bay Council last night by the Oak Bay Municipal Employees' Association. The matter was referred to the committee of the whole to deal with.

Councillor William Ellis was given power to approve the issuing of a permit for a proposed new house on lot 9, block 39, map 1216A—2720 Beach Drive, Up-lands. The proposed house is for Dr. C. J. Clayton, and the value is $8,500.

A request from the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce for $50 to aid in staging the annual Christmas Home Lighting Contest this year, was refused.

The council voted the sum of $3 be given a man to compensate him for the loss of three chickens. A dog had entered his coop and killed them. In a two-page "notice of claim," filed under section 17 of the Sheep Protection Act, the man told the council he would prefer it if the council could get

A special grant of $500 to the Jubilee Hospital was authorized by the council. The sum of $50 will be paid the city to help cover expenses of the B.C. Municipalities' convention.

A report from Councillor Ellis, chairman of the works committee, pointed out the entire 1939 program had been completed, but for minor exceptions. Three and a half miles of sidewalks had been laid down and 10,000 yards of road had been constructed, he reported.

British Women Are Stoic Under Ordeal

Says Lady Reading
In Broadcast
To United States

LONDON (CP) — The Dowager Marchioness of Reading said last night in a broadcast address that British women were facing the ordeal of war with serenity and stoicism.

In an address to women in the United States, Lady Reading compared the position of every woman in Britain with that of one who has to undergo a painful but necessary operation, and explained:

"One does not march into the operating theatre to the music of drum and fife. Knowing that one does well to go, one goes quietly. It is not nice, but nobody any longer believes it is not necessary."

"You American women, in your peaceful homes, 5,000 miles away, remember this: That millions of women in Great Britain parted by war from their husbands and their children, are working to preserve the things we all love—family life and honest thinking, quietness of mind and a clear conscience."

Lady Reading is chairman of the Women's Voluntary Service League.

Mother's Union Hear Inspiring Talk

A general meeting of the Diocesan Mothers' Union was held on Wednesday afternoon in the Memorial Hall, with the president, Mrs. Beasley, in the chair. Following the opening hymn, the members stood in silent sympathy for two bereaved mothers.

The president warmly welcomed a party of members from the Shawinigan Lake branch. Archdeacon A. E. de L. Nunn gave an interesting and helpful address pointing out that in this time of need and impending disaster nominal Christianity must develop into something deeper, and to this end the members were urged to do their utmost, since a mother's influence extends far beyond the home. It has been said that civilization moves forward on the feet of little children. How important then is the influence of a good home training which will give faith and courage to face the difficult problems which in future years will beset the rising generation, he said.

The address was followed by reports from all the branches and from executive members. The meeting closed with prayer and tea was served by Mrs. Corbett and her helpers.

Mr. and Mrs. George Folkard, the former Miss Eva Clegg, who were married last Sunday in St. Andrew's Church, Alberni.

Social and Personal

Mrs. C. M. Lisco and her baby daughter, Ann, who have been visiting her mother, Mrs. H. E. Sims, Newport Avenue, will leave on Sunday for Portland where she will join her husband and make their home.

Mrs. H. P. Bagley, Foul Bay Road, left yesterday for Santa Monica to spend the remainder of the winter months. Miss Peggy Bagley, who went to Kingston, Ontario, to attend the graduation of her brother, Mr. Jack Bagley, at the Royal Military College, will join her mother in the south.

A farewell party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. Peden, McBride Avenue, by the Unity's basketball team in honor of Miss Eileen Peden, who is leaving shortly for Halifax to be married to Mr. Stanley Day. During the evening the guest of honor was presented with a silver sandwich tray engraved "Unity's Basketball team," by the coaches' daughter, Patsy Yeaman. Refreshments were served from a table centred with mauve chrysanthemums. The guests included: Mr. and Mrs. T. Peden, Mr. and Mrs. W. Yeaman, Mrs. B. Longstaff, and the Misses Eileen Peden, Jean Metcalfe, Mary Meddler, Chris Reid, Mae Peden, Patsy Yeaman, Gordon Carlow and Gordon Peden.

Miss Elsie Goodman of the Harrogate Apartments, Oak Bay, who has been visiting in Evanston, Illinois, for the last month, is expected home on Sunday.

W.I. Would Divorce School Taxes From Land

Conference Backs
Stand Taken By
B.C. Municipalities

Removal of the school tax from land, as recommended by the Union of B. C. Municipalities at its convention this week, was endorsed by the South Vancouver Island district Women's Institute conference at its closing session yesterday afternoon.

The action followed the discussion created by the report by Mrs. D. B. F. Bullen of Langford, convener of education. Mrs. R. W. Thomas of Cedar spoke of the hardship worked on farmers by the tax in many of the smaller rural areas, and advanced the suggestion that the present curricula was designed for city schools, rather than to meet rural needs. She further suggested that the provincial authorities should take over the schools, with a view to eliminating some of the problems arising in connection with the consolidated schools in small and scattered communities.

BRITISH IDEALS

Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan urged the institutes to study the King report, which suggested partial relief in land taxation. Mrs. Bullen in her report also stressed the need for more emphasis to be laid on the inculcation in the young of the high ideals of British citizenship, to combat misleading propaganda.

Supporting British Columbia products meant supporting British Columbia payrolls, said Mrs. Lorna Evans, convener of the standing committee on industries, in her annual report, which covered also the less commercial avenues of industry which were followed in the homes of the province by women.

Mrs. M. E. Kinloch of Shawinigan W.I. reviewed the history of the W.I. Craft Shop at Kokstah, and appealed for better support.

THRIFT SUGGESTIONS

Mrs. K. Booth of Royal Oak, convener of home economics, advanced many useful suggestions for the thrifty use of humble materials such as flour and sugar sacks, and urged greater use of Vancouver Island wool.

In her report on legislation, Mrs. Kinloch spoke of the valuable work done on provincial acts by study clubs in Victoria and Langford Institutes. Mrs. F. McNaught, Lake Hill, in her report on institute work and method, recommended members to familiarize themselves with parliamentary procedure. Mrs. Ada M. Spicer, Pender Island, gave an outline of the health services supplied through the district health centres and their nurses, urging that some form of travelling clinics might be of great service in some of the more remote districts.

Reading of the federal department's annual report on immigration was recommended by Mrs. Peden, convener of the committee on immigration, who looked for good results from the Fairbridge Farm School scheme at Duncan. She expressed approval of the Federated Conference idea that more ceremony should be made of the occasion of "making of new Canadians" in order to impress upon them significance of the event.

COUNCIL GREETINGS

Dr. Olga Jardine, in bringing greetings from the Local Council of Women, warmly commended the institutes' interest in home economics, and suggested that the women go further into the study of nutrition, especially in its relation to substitute foods.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

Mrs. Wm. Peden was elected president of the board, to succeed Mrs. J. L. White, who retired from that office. Other members of the board elected were: Mrs. I. Cains, Sooke; Mrs. A. H. Chambers, Saltair; Mrs. T. C. Johns, Victoria, and Mrs. M. E. Kinloch, Shawinigan.

Mrs. J. L. White presented prizes to the winners in the institute report contest as follows: 1. Craigflower, 1957 marks; 2. Cedar, 1898. Third, fourth and fifth places were taken by Deerholm, Lake Hill and Royal Oak, respectively.

An interested visitor, introduced by Mrs. MacLachlan, was Mrs. C. E. Petch of Quebec, second vice-president of the Federated Women's Institutes.

DELEGATES ENTERTAINED

The Lake Hill W.I. entertained the delegates on Wednesday evening in the Lake Hill Community Hall. The delegates were welcomed by the president, Mrs. W. S. Webster, Mrs. V. S. MacLachlan, Mrs. T. C. Robson, and Mrs. Louis Schmelz responding.

An enjoyable program, convened by Mrs. B. Noel, accompanied by Mrs. F. Hole, and a play entitled "The Golden Fleece," written by Mrs. Blair and acted by members of the Victoria W.I. Dramatic Club.

HANSON-KIRK

VANCOUVER — Candlelight shone through chapel windows at the Anglican-Theological College at the University Wednesday evening for the wedding of Beatrice Lucille Kirk and Lewis Ernest Hanson. And in a bower of white chrysanthemums Rev. William Gemmill, Dean of the college, performed the ceremony, at which the only daughter of Mrs. Hazel Kirk Watt of Seattle and granddaughter of Mrs. Kirk of this city and the late C. W. Kirk, became the bride of the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hanson of Saskatoon, Sask.

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. James Leslie Kirk, wore a French frock in smoke blue, shirred and tucked to tailored chic. A cape collar of brown squirrel gave the note for the fur trimming edging the halo brim of her small blue hat with its tucked crown and bustle drape in back. A corsage of orchids and lily of the valley enhanced her costume.

It was a family wedding with a small reception following at the bride's grandmother's home on Pine Crescent, where white gladioli and chrysanthemums graced the rooms and white gardenias in a blue Venetian bowl centred the candlelit bride's table.

When leaving on the wedding trip, which will be spent motoring down the Oregon coast, the bride donned a black wool topcoat, luxuriously collared in silver fox.

Mrs. Watt came up from Seattle for her daughter's wedding, and other relatives present from out of town were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Kirk and Messrs. Jack and Charles Kirk from Victoria.

COTTON-MAYHEW

The wedding took place recently at the home of the officiating minister, Rev. Dr. W. J. Sippell, of Grace, only daughter of Major and Mrs. W. H. Mayhew of Moose Jaw, to Wilfred Cotton, eldest son of Mrs. A. E. Cotton, 141 Cambridge Street. The bride was attended by Miss Lois Patterson of Moose Jaw, and the groom was supported by his brother, William Cotton.

MARSHALL-HEAL

Tall baskets of dahlias, gladioli and chrysanthemums, arranged by girl friends of the bride, formed a pretty setting in St. Paul's Church, Sidney, last evening at 7 for the wedding of Vera Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Heal, Saanichton, to Mr. Leonard Ralph Marshall, youngest son of Mrs. J. Marshall and the late Mr. Marshall, Saanichton.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Percy Willis and Rev. D. M. Perley. Given in marriage by her father, the bride was pretty in her white satin gown, with lace yoke bordered in pearls, and an Elizabethan collar. Her embroidered tulle veil was worn coronet fashion, and held in place by a wreath of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of white carnations, pink roses and ferns.

Miss Nancy Jeffrey was maid of honor, wearing a floor-length dress of peach net and hat to match, and carrying a spray of gladioli, white chrysanthemums and ferns. Miss Phyllis Heal, sister of the bride, and Miss Joyce Heal, her cousin, were the bridesmaids, both wearing peach taffeta dresses with hats to match, and carrying sprays of white chrysanthemums. The two little flower girls were Norman Nunn and Shirley Reading; both in long powder blue dresses, with pretty doll hats to match, and carrying posies of carnations and pom-pom dahlias.

The groom was supported by his cousin, Mr. Sidney Beswick. The wedding marches were played by Mrs. P. Brethour, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Mason sang "Because."

A reception was held at the Agricultural Hall, Saanichton, which had been decorated for the occasion with pink and white streamers and flowers. The bride and groom stood beneath a floral arch, and were assisted in receiving the guests by the bride's mother, in a powder blue dress, with hat and accessories to match, and by the mother of the groom, in a black dress with hat and accessories to match. Both wore bouquets of roses and violets.

A three-tier wedding cake centred the supper table, which had been decorated by Mrs. Deverson, with pink tapers in silver holders.

on each side, and silver vases of pink and white chrysanthemums. After a honeymoon trip to Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Marshall will reside at Bazar Bay Road, Bazar Bay. Among the gifts was a standard lamp from the fellow workers of the groom at Champion and White, Bazar Bay.

Hollywood Ladies' Aid monthly meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. C. H. Green, 160 Beechwood Avenue, Thursday, at 2.45.

To neglect pain and distress in the stomach, however slight, is to court serious trouble. Such disturbance is usually due to excess acid attacking the delicate stomach lining. At the first hint of pain or distress, take Maclean Brand Stomach Powder. Its four properly balanced and potent alkalies neutralize the excess acid, sweeten the stomach, stop pain, aid elimination of fermenting waste and protect the stomach walls against the biting attack of the acid. Maginot Blue One Of New Paris War Colors

By ALICE MAXWELL
Associated Press Staff Writer
PARIS (AP) — Maginot and pout blue, trench brown, plane grey and legion red were the dominating colors in midseason collections of new military fashions shown today.

The shows were given in spite of the war but greatly under its influence.

This feminine wear included coats and suits with big military-style pockets 10 to 20 inches long. Some new models by Schiaparelli showed swinging saddle pockets, some in fur and others in elaborately braided fabrics.

Many suits had leather-trimmed pockets swung in knapsack style from the shoulder. Dresses had front pockets swung from belts.

Apart from the military motif were new "washerwoman" frocks, featuring skirts adjustable at the hips for day-length or ankle-length for evenings. Ostrich and coq toques were shown with these dresses.

Military-style coats had turn-over collars, gold buttons and belts. Some copied trench coats.

Wool jersey dresses showed the military touches at the collar points, which were of red velvet and gold, embroidered with various French army insignia.

Tweed suits featured a wrap-around skirt worn over bloomers or plus-fours in a bright, contrasting color which matched accompanying blouses and hats. Many soft, fold-up hats were shown with the military models.

Victoria Purple Star Lodge, L.O.B.A., 104, will meet in the Orange Hall on Wednesday evening at 7.30; drill practice will be held on Tuesday afternoon at 2.

Over 3,500 Attend Rice Bowl Festival Opening

Colorful Pageantry, Rare Art Treasures, and Gay Entertainment in Chinatown Fete; Proceeds for Chinese War Work and Canadian Red Cross

Chinatown was in gala mood last evening with firecrackers, lanterns, beautifully costumed girl dancers, musicians and other characteristic features, to signal the official opening of the grand three-day Rice Bowl Festival at the Chinese Benevolent Association building and grounds. Sponsored by the Canadian Friends of China, Medical Aid Committee for China and the Chinese War Refugees Relief Committee, the proceeds will be shared between these worthy causes and the Canadian Red Cross.

Over 3,500 persons attended the affair, Chinese and whites mingled in the crowds which thronged the various exhibits and watched the colorful performances to the accompaniment of Occidental and Oriental music, shrill cries of the vendors of wares, the smell of incense enhancing the atmosphere of an Oriental bazaar.

FORMAL OPENING

The formal opening ceremonies took place on a platform beneath a huge canopy erected in the school grounds. Mr. Joseph Hope acted as chairman. Most Rev. J. C. Cody, Bishop of Victoria, pronounced a prayer for peace, and "O Canada" was followed by the singing of the Chinese National anthem by the assembled Chinese children, accompanied by the Canadian Legion band.

Mayor Andrew McGavin, in declaring the fete open, observed that China's courageous and determined stand in the face of tremendous odds had won the sympathy of the world. He commended the splendid effort of the festival committee and wished the undertaking every success. Brigadier-General J. G. Austin, representing the Canadian Red Cross Society, thanked the Chinese community for their magnificent gesture in devoting part of the proceeds to the Red Cross. "We of the British Empire and you of the Chinese Empire—a far older civilization—stand together for the same ideals," he said.

INDOMITABLE SPIRIT

Mrs. G. M. Tripp, secretary of the Committee for Medical Aid for China, paid tribute to China's indomitable spirit and the vision to see through to their goal of success. Dr. D. M. Baillie congratulated the Chinese sponsors on their wonderful show, a miracle of organization, and Miss Sara Spencer of the Canadian Friends of the Chinese People.

In the basement, games, hot dogs, and other "fun of the fair" attracted many patrons, while around the grounds stalls sold choice flowers, fruits and vegetables, and a huge "rice bowl" received donations from passing spectators.

ST. MARK'S A.Y.P.A.
The weekly meeting of St. Mark's A.Y.P.A. was held on Tuesday in the parish hall. Reports showed that the country fair was a financial success; E. Seedhouse gave a report on badminton. A social will be held on Halloween night, further arrangements to be announced later.

After the business meeting a debate was held between Margaret Gibson and Michael Oliver of Langford-Colwood, who upheld the negative, and Margaret George and Albert George of St. Mark's, who upheld the affirmative. Messrs. Parkinson, F. Hunter and J. Baxter, the judges, awarded the decision to St. Mark's team.

Municipal I.O.D.E. Hears Report of Work for Evacuees

Victoria's contribution in clothes for evacuated children totaled 404 articles, and $46.40 for new garments, Mrs. J. Gordon Smith, convener of the committee, reported to the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E. at its monthly meeting yesterday afternoon. Thanks to the C.P.R. freight department, Victoria Baggage Company and Fairbanks-Morse for their co-operation in sending the clothing were expressed by the members.

Mrs. K. C. Symons presided at the meeting. Mrs. J. L. Gates, for the emergency committee, told of classes started in St. John Ambulance work, hospital supplies, Red Cross work and canteen work, for which an appeal was made for magazines, cigarettes, cards and games. Mrs. A. H. C. Phipps, Poppy Day convener, asked for lists of taggers not later than November 1. Reports were also given by Mrs. F. F. Beckett, educational secretary, who told of an appeal for books from Say-wai, Lower School; Mrs. J. T. Jones, Echoes secretary, who wants notes in by October 31, and the standard-bearer, Mrs. J. W. Cashmore. Mrs. Symons reported for the Navy League and Mrs. Wilson for films.

Mrs. Symons will represent the chapter at the semiannual meeting to be held in Nanaimo on November 8. Mrs. E. Eve is in charge of the transportation and announced that a bus will leave Victoria at 9.30 a.m. on that day. Members were asked to telephone Mrs. Eve at E 2117 immediately for reservations.

The next meeting will be held on November 23, at 7.30 p.m., at headquarters.

Clubwomen's News

A special meeting of the Mary Croft Esquimalt Chapter I.O.D.E. is called for Monday at 3 p.m. at municipal headquarters, View Street, to make arrangements for bridge tea and also for obtaining wool for Red Cross purposes.

The Ladies Aid Society of Emmanuel Baptist Church met on Wednesday, Mrs. Pearson, newly elected president, in the chair. Several matters of business were discussed and final plans made for the rummage sale on Wednesday, November 1, at 2 p.m. in the Sunday School room. At the close tea was served; Mrs. Miles and Mrs. Zala being hostesses.

ANTIQUE ART
Inside the building crowds gathered around the exhibition of priceless art treasures, including exquisite carved jades and ivories, lovely old needlework pictures, screens and statuettes carved from a single piece of wood, Sang de Boeuf and other rare potteries and porcelains, old bronzes, cloisonne, lacquer, temple relics and other instances of the wonderful handiwork of Chinese craftsmen of a bygone era.

Of a different character is the exhibit of Sino-Japanese war relics, including diaries, badges and clothing taken from Japanese soldiers, handbills dropped behind the lines, and propaganda posters. One of the interesting relics is the thousand hand seam, a piece of cloth on which one thousand Japanese women each sewed a single stitch. This cloth was given to the Japanese soldier to preserve him from harm.

GAY TEA ROOM
In the beautifully decorated ceremonial hall, with its antique and authentic decorations, tea was served and gay stalls did a thriving business. Mrs. Jack Yip, representing the Chinese women, and Mrs. G. M. Tripp welcomed the guests. Mrs. Wah Quan and Miss Eileen Dumbleton were in charge of the tea arrangements, the tea tables being decorated with chrysanthemums and the guests attended by a group of attractive Chinese girls wearing their long-silk Chinese dress.

CATHEDRAL A.Y.P.A.
Group Five held a most enjoyable Halloween social for the Christ Church Cathedral A.Y.P.A. on Wednesday evening. All the members came in fancy dress, and the evening began with games and competitions. A treasure hunt led everybody to the basement, which was appropriately decorated and lit with lanterns and candles, for pumpkin pie and coffee. After a short business meeting, in which members were reminded of the telephone socials to be held this month, the evening concluded with dancing in the gym.

Next Wednesday evening the Dean will give the first of his lectures on "Friendship, Love, Courtship and Marriage." The lecture will begin at 8 p.m., and members are asked to come early.

Members of the Victoria West United Church W.A. will hold a bazaar in the social hall on Wednesday afternoon next.

Fine Pep Meeting

A variety of first-class entertainment featured the first "pep" meeting of the year at Victoria High School yesterday. This program introduced some of the fine talent now attending the school. Among those taking part were three newcomers who have met with success on the radio: Teddy Shadbolt, pianist; Elaine Harle, the "Deanna Durbin of Victoria," and Len Weaver, "singing cowboy." The new school swing band proved its worth, and Ray Whitehouse, crooner, and Chester Cotter, guitarist, old favorites, added to the program. The "Seven South American Beauties" who did their famous "umbrella dance," proved a novelty and provided plenty of comedy. This dance chorus presented some of the school's more prominent boys dressed as girls in freakish costumes. Ray Whitehouse was master of ceremonies, and with the aid of Don Seaton introduced new yell and cheers to the students.

ST. LUKE'S A.Y.P.A.

A visit was made by the members of St. Luke's A.Y.P.A. to the Palm Dairy last Tuesday evening. After the tour through the plant the members were served ice cream and before leaving everyone present signed the guest book. Next Tuesday there will be a swimming party at the Crystal Garden.

Rude Awakening
Due for Herridge;
No Early Election

By NORMAN MACLEOD

OTTAWA — There may be many a slip between the planning and the fulfillment of the wartime debut that Hon. W. D. Herridge, one-time Canadian minister to Washington, is confidently counting upon making on the federal parliamentary stage.

O. B. Elliott, Social Credit member for the Saskatchewan seat of Kindersley, has resigned to pave the way for Mr. Herridge's entry into the House of Commons as leader of the monetary reform group. In view of Prime Minister Mackenzie King's edict against the practice of party politics while the war is on, Canada's No. 1 advocate of thinly-disguised Fascism presumably entertains hopes of taking the seat thus bequeathed to him without any electoral struggle.

NO TIME FOR CRUSADES

In this fond hope Mr. Herridge is due for a rude awakening. It is well known in federal political circles that the government has no intention of allowing the former minister to Washington to enter Parliament unopposed. Mr. Herridge is a proponent of ideas of so-called economic reform which, unsettling enough at the best of times, are out of the question under circumstances of national emergency when the concentrated energy of the people is required for the task of banishing the menace of Hitler from the horizon of world democracy.

The general federal view is that the war task which faces Parliament is quite sufficient in itself to occupy the undivided attention of Parliament, without interest being distracted by any crusade of a radical monetary group under Mr. Herridge's leadership for so-called economic reform.

MACKENZIE STAYING

Other circumstances on Parliament Hill today are indicating that a recent rumor of an early change in the Mackenzie King ministry may be without foundation. Hon. Ian MacKenzie, absent from the capital for health reasons since his recent shift from the portfolio of National Defence to the portfolio of Pensions and National Health, returned to deny a persistent rumor that he was through with politics and had no intention of again being a candi-

BROUGHT DOWN ZEPPELIN

Twenty-two years ago Flight Sub-Lieut. Robert Leckie of Toronto received the Distinguished Service Cross for bringing down a German Zeppelin off the east coast of England. Now, after a distinguished career with the R.A.F. and the R.C.A.F. during and since the war, he is an air commodore and commands the entire British air fleet in the Mediterranean.

date in the federal election. A secretary with the authority of a spokesman declared the report to be "absolutely unfounded, unauthorized and incorrect."

"Mr. MacKenzie," the informant said, "has every intention of being a candidate in the next federal election. He has been away simply because he was ill from the strain of his duties as Minister of National Defence. Actually, when he got away, he found out that he was even more ill and in need of rest than he had realized. He has made a complete recovery, however, and he intends now to get right down to work upon his new department."

NO EARLY ELECTION

Since the result in Quebec, federal opinion is that there will be no federal election at least until Mr. King first meets Parliament.

The Prime Minister is understood to be anxious to enact new electoral legislation before the government goes to the people again. The main change that he proposes is to shorten drastically the period that now must be allowed for a general election campaign in the federal arena. Mr. King is understood to have legislation drafted which will make it possible for any government to hold a nation-wide Dominion election within 23 days' notice. Such a period quite manifestly would make it impossible for the leaders of the main political parties to conduct speaking tours across the country from coast to coast as has been the custom in the past. Elimination of these

Hunting Enemy Subs

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty, in a stirring description of the sinking of a U-boat by British destroyers recently told how Great Britain's navy remorselessly stalks its prey at sea, "according to schemes invented and tried out long before the war."

Although neither time nor place of the sinking was given by the unknown writer, he drew a vivid picture of depth charges raising "huge mushroom-shaped hummocks of white water" and finally forcing the submarine and its helpless crew to the surface.

"The rest of the story has been told," he wrote. "Shortly after the rescue of her crew the submarine flung her bow vertically into the air and sank stern first in a flutter of whitened water and an ever-widening patch of iridescent oil spreading over the surface of the sea."

The account follows: "Destroyers were at sea on an independent search for submarines in northern waters. The weather was typical, with a shrewd wind from the north-northwest causing tops of little seas to break and cross the swell from another direction. The sky was overcast, with occasional squalls of rain blotting out the horizon and shutting down visibility to about seven miles."

"Reports received announced that an enemy submarine had been located some distance to the southward. Within a few minutes the destroyers were steaming in the direction indicated at something over 30 knots. It took them some hours to reach the reported position, but on arriving they slowed down and started to quarter the sea according to a pre-arranged plan."

"Their guns were manned and depth charges were ready. Extra lookouts were on the bridge, and ships' companies were keyed up to the idea of action. They all knew what was in the wind. Though it was afternoon and those who had kept night watches might reasonably have been asleep, there were few on the mess-decks. The search continued, but for some time nothing happened."

"Then, quite suddenly, a flag hoisted by one of the destroyers indicated the scent had been picked up. The remorseless hunt began, not haphazardly, but according to schemes invented and tried out long before the war."

"Thudding detonations of those massive canisters—about the size of an ordinary dustbin—seemed to squeeze the air and cause the sea to momentarily shimmer as if beaten by heavy rain. Exploding at various depths below water, they shook the ships from which they were projected and raised huge mushroom-shaped hummocks of white water which burst upward in great spouts of spray tinged grey with high explosive."

"The explosions died away, and there came the inevitable suspense as to whether the attack had been successful. Many eyes searched the sea for signs of a submarine breaking the surface or oil or wreckage floating up from the depths."

"But for a time nothing appeared. Collecting his destroyers, the senior officer ordered another attack. Once more depth charges were dropped according to plan—this time with success."

BREAKS SURFACE
"About half a mile astern of some of the destroyers the con-

ning tower and the long hull of the submarine suddenly broke the surface, bow first, in a swirl of water. The U-boat's stern was still under water. With her conning tower opened, men started to tumble up on deck. She might have a sting left. Nobody knew if she intended to surrender.

"But it was a case of surrender. Some of the U-boat crew could be seen leaping overboard. Others were holding up their hands. Her bows started to lift as the stern slowly went under."

"The destroyers approached, stopped and went astern to check their way. Boats were lowered. They rescued the entire crew, some from the water, some from the submarine herself."

"They were described as youngish men and bearded, some still self-possessed, but others obviously shaken by the ordeal. They were all cared for by their rescuers, who gave them navy rum and warm clothing."

"Then the U-boat men described what had happened inside the submarine—first the sound of the hunting destroyers' propellers become louder and louder, then the thudding detonation of the first depth charges, coming closer all the time."

"The first attacks caused serious damage to their submarine and made her leak. Then came a short respite, during which the propeller sounds could be heard receding, and the men were left wondering if the hunters had given up the chase."

"Vain hope. Unseen, impalpable fingers were soon groping again beneath the waters. Propeller sounds became louder again, then more depth charges, close, frightfully close."

"That second attack put out lights, shattered delicate instruments and caused worse flooding. Very soon the U-boat's stern was full of water, which came spurting in pipes and rivet holes in the bulkhead. She developed a heavy list. More water started to seep into the interior through the damaged conning tower. Compressed air was leaking."

"There was only enough pressure left to blow the tanks and come to the surface and give the crew a chance for their lives."

Britain's Preparedness Campaign Is Gigantic Effort

WATCHFUL BRITONS GUARD THE SKIES—British infantry have not yet been reported in action with enemy forces in France, but the air force have carried out numerous reconnaissance flights deep into Germany, have bombed German naval bases, and have proved their mettle in "dogfights" over the western front. A necessary complement to their activities, the anti-aircraft sections of the British army are constantly ready to repel counter-attacks by enemy aircraft. The anti-aircraft crew, above, is just behind the British front in France. Air raid precautions work includes preparation for emergency conditions at every point where German bombs might fall—not only streets but factories, homes, public buildings, and even the River Thames, whose crowded shipping would make a tempting target. Hospital ships are constantly patrolling the river in readiness to handle emergencies such as fire and sinkings during air raids. In this picture, right, decontamination squads practice on the river during air raid precaution exercises, wearing full decontamination kit.

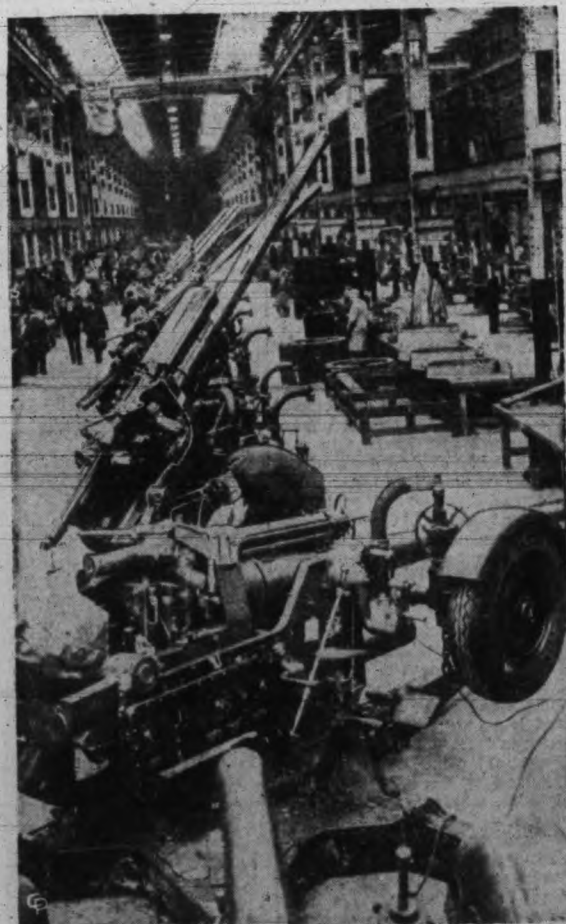

THE NAVY STANDS READY—This picture shows the powerful British battleship Revenge leaving Devonport to take up a position with the Grand Fleet that has locked up the German navy inside the Kiel Canal.

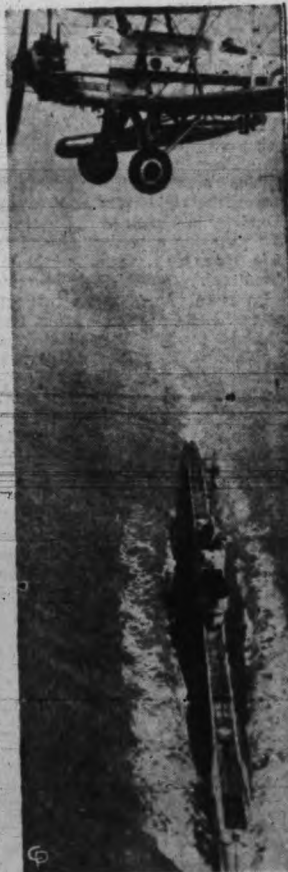

WATERFRONT WATCHMAN—As German sky raiders appear over British coastline, a huge, new-type anti-aircraft gun is moved up to reinforce the defense of an important docks on London's waterfront. Principal strategy of German air force is expected to be an attempt to destroy English commercial ports.

ANOTHER SACRIFICE FOR WAR—A luxuriant head of hair, nicely groomed, is desirable in piping times of peace. But when tin hats, gas masks and such appurtenances of war have to be hastily crammed over the cranium, hair is apt to be a handicap. So the British Tommy sacrifices his crowning glory to the great god Mars. Here is a typical scene in a Tommie's "barber shop" somewhere in England, as the boys have their locks shorn before departing for France.

ASSEMBLY LINE IN BRITISH GUN PLANT—A view of one of the floors in one of Britain's armament plants, showing some of the anti-aircraft guns that will be used in the defence of Britain in process of assembly. Throughout England, factories like this one are working night and day to complete the defensive ring of steel and high explosive around the "tight little island."

TORPEDO CARRIERS—A Royal Air Force training plane, carrying a deadly torpedo beneath its nose, flies over a British submarine in the English Channel as Britain sharpens its U-boat defence.

LAUGHING AT THE GRIM TASK AHEAD?—Far from being downhearted are these cheerful British Tommies, pictured during an entertainment given them just prior to their departure for France. Whatever the joke was, it must have been good to get such a hearty response from Britain's warriors.

CABINET MINISTERS SHOW INTEREST IN AIR FORCE—Sir Kingsley Wood, British Air Minister, is pictured, on the ground in civilian clothes, watching Sir John Simon, Chancellor of the Exchequer, as he inspected the interior of a bombing plane during an official visit of inspection to an air-drome in the vicinity of London.

FIGHTING A NEW NAVAL FOE: GAS—A common sight in cities on the home front, but an odd one aboard a battleship is this scene on a Soviet war vessel. Rehearsing chemical warfare defence a "decontamination squad" of sailors in anti-gas uniforms sprinkles gas-nullifying chemicals over the deck.

BRITISH TARS GET LAND DRILL—Even sailors are not exempt from marching as these men can attest. While soldiers naturally get land drill civilians are liable to think that a sailor's walking is limited entirely by the confines of his ship. These sailors are shouldering bayoneted rifles during recent small arms drill parade at a British naval depot "somewhere in England."

By PETE SALLAWAY

VISITING THE Pacific Northwest on what might be called a postman's holiday, Don Budge, world's No. 1 tennis player, comes up with the forecast that Davis Cup competition will likely be suspended indefinitely. "With Australia holding the cup and waging a war at the same time, I'm afraid it may be some time before competition for the trophy will be resumed," he said. "I've no plans for foreign trips now—with the war going on, it looks like the best policy is to remain at home."

Also in abeyance are any plans to participate in a professional tour this winter, Budge said, although he possibly would consider plans for an exhibition tour in 1941.

Budge arrived in Seattle loaded down with racquets and made a date for a tennis match. The carrot-topped youngster who captured virtually every major tennis crown at stake in the United States and Europe, will play no formal matches in the Northwest but has arranged an informal affair at the Seattle Tennis Club over the week-end with Hank Prusoff as his opponent. Budge will pound the ball around "just for the fun of it."

Entrance of Billy Buxton—into the army comes just at a time when the Victoria youngster might have obtained a title shot against a world champion. We have word from Seattle that Promoter Nate Druzman had figured on bringing Joey Archibald, featherweight monarch, out to Seattle for a bout with Billy. Although Archibald is the boss of the 126-pounders, he is no great shucks as a fighter, and Druzman thought it would be a grand chance for the hard-hitting Victoria boy, who has been knocking at the door of opportunity for several years. Only a pair of brittle hands has kept Billy from climbing the ladder long ago.

Seattle's ring champion, Al Hostak, and his board of strategy, along with Promoter Druzman, are having quite a merry time these days trying to get Hostak and Cefterio Garcia together to determine once and for all the rightful holder of the (Turn to Page 20, Col. 5)

REGINA (CP)—Promotion of Kilby Macdonald of Ottawa and Alf Pike of Winnipeg, to New York Rangers of the National Hockey League was announced here yesterday by Manager Lester Patrick.

MacDonald and Pike, both with Philadelphia Ramblers of the Int-Am League at the close of last season, were chosen to replace Cecil Dillon, forward sold to Detroit, and Larry Molyneux, defenceman sold to Cleveland.

Promotion of the two players from the Ranger farm team was decided upon after their showing in the last two weeks at the Ranger training camp.

The rise of Pike, a member of Winnipeg's Dominion champion junior Monarchs three years ago, has been sensational. He joined New York Rovers two seasons ago, but jumped to Philadelphia for the International League playoffs last spring. The 22-year-old has played in only 11 professional games, and will be used as general utility man by the Rangers.

TO BE MARRIED

"Pike is being married in Winnipeg Saturday," commented Patrick. "This is his wedding present from the Ranger organization."

MacDonald, a 24-year-old Ottawa boy, who has been with the Ranger chain for three years, moves up to play right wing on the line with Clint Smith and Lynn Patrick. He is a left-hander, effective as a sniper on his "wrong" side of the ice. MacDonald was chosen all-star winger of the International League last spring.

Rangers will carry three forward lines, five defence men and Pike, utility man, this season.

DETROIT PLAYS TIE

GALT, Ont. (CP)—Detroit Red Wings of the National Hockey League and Indianapolis Capitals, their farm team, opened the hockey season in Galt last night by playing to a 5 to 5 overtime tie.

Indianapolis scored the first two goals early in the first period through Red Keating and Eddie Bush. Wings evened the game before the period ended on scores by Eddie Wares of Calgary and Syd Abel.

Jimmy Orlando netted first for the farm team in the second and Wares for Detroit two minutes later.

Carl Liscombe put Indianapolis ahead after six minutes of the overtime and Eddie Goodfellow, (Turn to Page 20, Col. 5)

MacPhail's New Plan Backfires

NEW YORK (CP)—That beautiful bubble blown by Larry MacPhail in the shape of a super-colossal world series between all teams in both major baseball leagues is due to explode from its own laughing gas when baseball men dig into figures of past experiments.

It sounded like a revolutionary proposal for the second-place clubs, the third-place clubs and so on to the eighth-place clubs, to meet to settle the real supremacy of baseball. MacPhail assured one and all the tremendous ventures would make money.

But some of the elders remembered the efforts of big, friendly August (Gerry) Herrmann to stage some similar series three decades back.

In 1909 Herrmann was president of the Cincinnati Reds and chairman of the National Baseball Commission.

Under the commission's sponsorship that year the Boston Red Sox and New York Giants, each finishing third in their league, played a five-game post-season series which grossed $12,863 and provided a player pool of $6,677 to be divided among the members of both clubs.

The following year the New York Yankees and Giants engaged in a city series of six games for receipts of $81,462 of which the players received $38,871 for division.

LITTLE SUCCESS

In the same season an "Ohio Series" between Cincinnati and Cleveland brought $18,512 with $8,565 for the players in seven games. They finished off with a doubleheader to get the affair over quickly.

In 1911 this series brought $9,423 with $5,088 for the players, even though it included two doubleheaders. According to the national commission's own records, the series produced a deficit of $413.

But the final, most ludicrous undertaking of all came in 1917 when the Browns and Cardinals tangled in an all St. Louis series. The first game's receipts were $85. The second game brought $84. The third game jumped to $191 and on the fourth day for a doubleheader the proceeds were $67, collapsing to $28 for the final day and total receipts of $756.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Powell Crosley, president of the Cincinnati Reds, reported yesterday his National Baseball League champions played to a total of 1,133,926 fans at home in 1939, and that profit for the year approximated $400,000.

Another big battle in the east will be Montreal Westmounts' attempt to maintain their perfect Ontario Union record against the Imperials at Sarnia. It's not like the Imperials, who have been champions for seven years, to be in second place at this stage.

YOUNGSTERS READY

Gone from the Sarnia scene is Bummer Stirling's kicking, but in his stead have come a group of Imperial youngsters ready to carry along tradition. It will be hard for the plunging Tommy Burns, the running and passing of Johnny Ferraro and the kicking of Moon Mullins and Jimmy Riddell to beat the Imperial spirit in Sarnia.

Hamilton Tigers can tie the Argonauts for second spot in the Big Four tomorrow by defeating Montreal Royals at Hamilton, providing the Argos lose.

The east's third undefeated team, the University of Western Ontario, will seek to carry along its plan for a perfect season in the combat with McGill at Montreal. Coach Bill Storen's idea is to run Western through the schedule without a defeat and then let the Mustangs pack away equipment without a playoff game, even though some people would like to see them try for the eastern senior title.

The classic annual meeting in Toronto of Queen's and the University of Toronto will leave one school or the other in second place in the intercollegiate series. Toronto will be out to avenge the unexpected beating in Kingston last week, which constituted the tricolor's first victory anywhere since 1937.

Argos Invade Ottawa

It will be a surprise if Lew Hayman, who is full of them, doesn't produce a couple of surprises on behalf of his Toronto Argonauts tomorrow in their crucial test at Ottawa with the Rough Riders, leaders of the Interprovincial Rugby Union.

Hayman was never caught without a trump card when the chips were down in 1937 and 1938, the years he piloted Argos to National championships. When things seemed to be going against them, there would come a forward pass on third down or a quick kick on first down and away the Argos would go to victory.

But whether the Hayman cunning can match the all-round power Ross Trimble has amassed at Ottawa this year is far from certain. It wasn't sufficient last week, when the unbeaten Rough Riders trod over the Argos 18 to 7 at Toronto and assumed Big Four leadership.

At home the Riders will be favored at better than the 7 to 5 odds that prevailed for them before the Toronto encounter. Yet it looks like a "nerve" game, the struggle of Hayman to triumph against all those "Trimble" odds.

Another big battle in the east will be Montreal Westmounts' attempt to maintain their perfect Ontario Union record against the Imperials at Sarnia. It's not like the Imperials, who have been champions for seven years, to be in second place at this stage.

Chicago Cubs Have Fine Rookie Crop

CHICAGO (AP)—Chicago Cubs of the National Baseball League, tired of hearing about all those bad deals they allegedly have made, claimed yesterday they'll

Hockey Gossip

Art Ross doesn't intend to have any of his Boston Bruins caught napping through new regulations in the National Hockey League rule book this season. The canny Boston manager sent his charges through a single lengthy workout yesterday at Hershey, Pa. Most of the time was devoted to interpreting new rules.

Several seasons ago, when Charlie Conacher was with Toronto Maple Leafs, Manager Comby Smythe was considering converting big Chuck to a defenceman but never did get around to it. Now Mervyn (Red) Dutton, maestro of New York Americans, evidently has taken the step and is working Conacher at a defence post.

Paul Haynes hasn't a very hard shot, compared to the boys who really burn them in like Charlie Conacher, Eddie Wares and Gordie Drillon, but he makes up for his lack of steam with almost deadly accuracy. Haynes was right on the spot to poke home a goal with only 25 seconds remaining in the third period to give Canadiens a 3 to 3 tie with New Haven's International American League Eagles last night at Shawinigan Falls.

One thing must be said for jovial Jack Adams, the man who guides the destinies of Detroit Red Wings—once he makes up his mind, there are no half-way measures. Since Adams decided to rebuild after the collapse of his great teams of a few years ago it is possible today to find only four familiar names on his new squad of players who were with him then. The standbys are Eddie Goodfellow, Syd Howe, Mud Bruneteau and Scotty Bowman.

Lester Patrick confesses that his "dream" of having an American-born player on the New York Rangers roster will have to wait another year at least. At Regina yesterday, Patrick said he had decided to send John Polich, all-American football player with Loyola University of California, to Philadelphia Ramblers for seasoning.

Harvey Jackson is bringing great big smiles to Red Dutton's face these days with his work in New York American drills. Dutton obtained the Busher from Toronto Maple Leafs this fall. Jackson has flashed some of the form that made him great in the days of Toronto's famed "kid line" of Jackson, Conacher and Joe Primeau.

have the best rookie crop in the team's history at spring training camp next March.

The three rookies of whom the Cubs are particularly proud are Dominic Dallesandio, purchased from San Diego for $17,500; Julio Bonetti, who won 20 games and lost only five for Los Angeles in 1939, and Bob Collins, a 30-year-old catcher who was an outstanding backstop for Los Angeles, where he hit .306 last season.

"We have those players already signed," said Charles Drake, assistant to president P. K. Wrigley. "We will have first call on two others—Lou Stringer, a second baseman, and Lou Novikoff, an outfielder. Stringer fielded spectacularly for Los Angeles, while Novikoff hit .455 for the same club in 36 games. These five players were among the outstanding minor league stars in 1939."

Victoria Soccer Team Will Meet Saints Here

Anglers Plan Big Jamboree

The sum of $250 was voted to the entertainment committee of the Chinook Club to put on the annual jamboree of the Victoria-Saanich Inlet Anglers' Association, which will bring to a close the most successful season in the organization's seven years' history.

The event will take place next month in the Shrine Auditorium. The date was left in the hands of entertainment chairman, Chuck Kinlock.

Bigger competitions last summer on Saanich Inlet waters resulted in a big increase in the membership, it reaching 699, a record by 200, Corpl. Dave Cook, secretary, announced at the meeting.

The financial state of the organization was healthy, he said. Members, their wives and a friend will be invited to attend the jamboree. A small admission will be charged each person attending. Any profits from the function will be handed over to the Solarium.

The committee that will handle the jamboree follows: Chuck Kinlock, chairman; George Laird, George Smith, Freddy Hughes, Harry Woolston, Alan Pendray and Bill Rowe.

Final Whistle For Joe Bloom

Soccer in Victoria lost one of its greatest supporters and followers yesterday in the death in the Royal Jubilee Hospital of Joseph Bloom. In ill-health for several months, Bloom entered the hospital only two days ago. He was 48 years of age.

"Joe," as he was familiarly known to the hundreds of soccer followers and players, had been associated with the sport for many years in his position as manager and sponsor of the Victoria City Club in the Victoria and District League.

Bloom was a great supporter of intercity football, and played no small part in the development of Victoria all-star clubs, and several times acted as manager of the local intercity squad.

Many of Victoria's present leading players made their start under Bloom in the well-known red shirts of the City eleven.

He was secretary of the Veterans of France for 20 years, and had been a resident of this city for about 35 years. He was born in London. Bloom served

KILTIES SCORE SOCCER VICTORY

With Private Bland accounting for half the score, the Second Battalion of the Canadian Scottish scored an 8 to 0 victory over the No. 13 Field Ambulance, R.C.A.M.C., Wednesday afternoon in an army soccer match at Central Park.

Play was rather ragged, but the teams maintained a hard pace. With a little more training both teams should develop into quite good soccer units. They are, though, under a handicap, as men are constantly sent out on duty at various places, and it is hard to field the same team more than a week or two at a time.

Dentist Wants To Save Horse

CINCINNATI (AP)—Dr. Paul Wehner, Cincinnati dentist whose ingenious therapy is credited with saving the lives of six injured race horses, wants to save C. S. Howard's fallen Sordado from destruction.

Howard has ordered the $40,000 colt destroyed Saturday. It snapped a sesamoid bone in the right foreleg two weeks ago while leading the field in the Gallant Fox Handicap at Jamaica.

Dr. Wehner, with a lucrative practice and "a mighty love for horseflesh" telegraphed Howard of his belief that he could put Sordado "on his four legs again."

"I haven't seen the diagnoses," the dentist commented, "but I'm confident he could be saved, at least for stud. And I'd like to try."

He's even willing to provide a specially-designed van for the horse during the attempt, he added.

Dr. Wehner developed his treatment several years ago on his farm at Verona, Ky., and tried it first on Prince Pine, a former stake runner that fell on the old Coney Island track here five years ago.

Prince Pine recovered—and so did five other horses whose injuries he treated later.

Dr. Wehner's method involves use of a special cast made of dental stone. If necessary, orthopedic joint and drainage tubes are inserted at or near the fracture.

The cast is changed as frequently as necessary, under anesthesia, the patient all the while being fed a special diet heavy in calcium.

In the Great War with the 31st Battalion C.E.F. and was severely wounded in France.

Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 1:45 at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Parlors. Present and former members of the Victoria City Club along with members of the present Victoria all-star club will attend.

Revellers To Travel For Grid Battle

Manager Arthur Poyntz today announced the Victoria Football Club team that will trot out on the Athletic Park pitch tomorrow afternoon to oppose St. Andrews of Vancouver in a Pacific Coast League fixture. Play will start at 3.

The team will almost be identical to that which traveled to Vancouver over the Thanksgiving week-end and held Radials, Dominion champions, to a 1 to 1 stalemate.

It was doubtful today whether Gordy Bell, smart forward, would be available for tomorrow's engagement.

REVELLERS ARE READY

Two games are ahead of the Victoria Revellers before the playoffs of the "Big Four" Canadian Football League. They will invade Vancouver tomorrow for their second meeting with Knights of Columbus and a week tomorrow will oppose North Shore Lions on the mainland.

On November 18, at the Athletic Park here, the local gridgers will play their semifinal playoff game and if a win is registered will have another game in Vancouver for the league championship. The November 18 game will be with Knights of Columbus if the league standings remain the same as today, the first and third and second and fourth teams meeting.

But that isn't going to be the story if the Revellers have anything to say in the matter. They're out to take the Kaycees tomorrow and after that will be fighting for a win over the Lions. If they do this they will move to third place and then play the league-leading team in the semifinals which will mean Varsity.

The collegians are a cinch to take the pennant, being undefeated this year.

Varsity has played four games and won four games. The Knights are in second place with three wins and one defeat and North Shore have one win and three defeats while the locals are in cellar with four defeats.

This week's workouts for the Victoria squad finished last evening with assistant coach Jimmy Smith putting the boys through their paces in the absence of Coach George Deacon who was called away to the mainland. Deacon will be on hand to meet the team tomorrow morning in Vancouver.

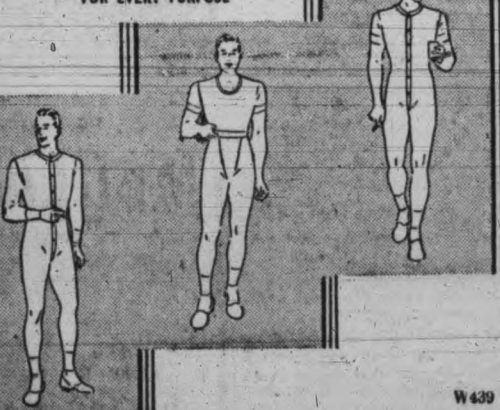

Smith reports the squad to be in top shape although Ian Auckland, star lineman will be missing from the line-up. Tubby Lea will take over Auckland's position. The team that will make the trip is as follows:

Bus Anderson, centre; Tubby (Turn to Page 20, Col. 8)

British Labor Meets Hitler's Challenge

LONDON (CP)—Arthur Greenwood, deputy leader of the Parliamentary Labor Party, today issued a statement in reply to propaganda he said was circulating in neutral countries to the effect that British labor does not want to fight in the war.

"Nothing is further from the truth," Mr. Greenwood's statement said. "The British worker hates war, but he also hates dictatorship, its brutal methods, and still more what they bring with them."

"There are hundreds of thousands of workers who would prefer to be in the trenches, at sea or in the air, but who must remain at their posts and manufacture arms."

"There is an inexorable determination among British workers to end forever the regime of organized 'gangsterism' which has kept Europe in a state of turmoil for years, destroyed the liberty of Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland, and threatens the liberty of other nations."

"The British Labor Party has accepted Hitler's challenge. Although it is not a part of the government, it will attempt by all means to support its action in declaring its intention of finally crushing Hitlerism."

"In this attitude the British worker has the support of the labor movements in the Dominions."

The vast majority of drug addicts want to be relieved of the habit, physicians have reported.

Germans Treat Poles As Inferiors

BROMBERG, Germany, formerly Bydgoszcz, Poland (AP)—Nazi Commissioner Kampe issued a decree today providing that Poles in this conquered Polish area should be treated as inferiors and in stores, factories and public buildings would be accommodated only after Germans.

German is the official language and the Poles may not display the Swastika flag.

"Germans who have German identification cards must be given the preference in every way," the announcement said.

FINNISH PEOPLE TO DECIDE COURSE

HELSINKI (AP)—The Finnish people have been assured that they will be the final decision on any bargain with Soviet Russia.

Foreign Minister Elias Erkkö, addressing a patriotic meeting last night in the state theatre, appealed for confidence and courage, saying, "the people of Finland must decide their own future and choose their own path."

Seated in the audience was the delegation headed by Dr. Juho Paasikivi, which returned from its second trip to Moscow and reported yesterday on Russian demands which Finland has found unacceptable. Paasikivi's group expects to go to Moscow again Sunday.

Erkkö's speech, the longest exposition of the situation since Russia started the negotiations, referred to countries "wiped off the map of Europe," but mentioned no names.

Strike in Toronto

TORONTO (CP)—A strike was called at the General Steel Works Limited plant here today by Lodge 1111 of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, affiliate of the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

A spokesman for the union said more than 500 employees went on strike when the company refused a demand for increased wages and other concessions. A union spokesman said wages of married employees ranged from $13 to $22 a week.

A handful of maintenance men, members of the union, remained in the plant.

Efforts to locate oil by analyzing the soil are being made in experiments.

Ask Policy on Tender Forms

Instructions were sought by the special committee drafting tender forms for a unified Greater Victoria transportation system from the City Council today as that committee moved to iron out questions of policy.

The committee, which includes municipal officers, among them solicitors for the different districts concerned, is taking similar action in Oak Bay and Esquimalt.

Progress on the tender form had been good, but definite working could not be established until the council had cleared up matters of policy, it was stated.

The City Council today received an invitation from the Dean of Columbia to the special Remembrance Day services scheduled in Christ Church Cathedral on November 12 at 3, and considered a request from the "7-up" (British Columbia) Ltd. beverage concern for a year's extension of its lease on the converted Variety Theatre premises.

On display in the council chamber was the small table on which rested the mayor's visitors' book when it was signed by the King and Queen last May. The furniture was embellished with a plaque presented by Alderman B. J. Gadsden, stating it had been used by Their Majesties for that purpose.

Chamber to Stage Lighting Contest

Originated to help create and foster the Christmas spirit and Yuletide atmosphere in Greater Victoria, the Christmas Residential Lighting Contest, conducted by the Victoria Junior Chamber of Commerce, will be held again this year. This will be the third annual event.

Bill Mearns, chairman of the committee handling the contest, reported today preliminary arrangements for the competition, which was an outstanding success last Christmas, were already under way.

The Whizzbangs Association, 2nd C.M.R. Battalion, will hold its 21st annual reunion at 7 p.m. on November 11 in the Hotel Georgia, Vancouver. Members of the Whizzbang Association will parade with Confederated Corps of B.C. to the Armistice Day memorial service at the Cenotaph in Vancouver.

TOWN TOPICS

Knights and Dames of the Thistle will hold a masquerade dance in the K. of P. Hall, Broad Street, tonight from 9 to 12. Refreshments will be served and prizes given.

Motorists and cyclists contributed $26.50 in fines in the City Police Court this morning. Two motorists were fined $10 each for speeding in a school zone, two cyclists were fined $2 each for failing to stop at signs and a motorist was fined $2.50 for parking over an hour.

A Halloween fun fest will be held at the Quadra School tomorrow night commencing at 7.30. Attractions will include the traditional chamber of horrors, tour through the witch's dungeon, the ghostly grotto, fortune telling, and many novel contests. Candied apples, peanuts, doughnuts and coffee will be served. A large committee under the chairmanship of Geo. H. E. Green, has been working hard to make this an outstanding success.

Seek Changes in Succession Duty

Complications of the Succession Duty Act and sections of it, which did not give adequate protection to the public, were told to the Real Estate Board of Victoria at lunch in Spencer's today by D. M. Gordon, and a resolution was passed to be sent to the coming session of the Legislature, pointing out the necessity for alterations in the act.

Mr. Gordon explained that a succession duty was a tax on the estate of a dead person. The tax was computed on a sliding scale similar to that of the income tax. The size of the estate and the relationship of the person who was receiving the land, to the dead person, were the main factors in the setting of the duty.

Several complications arose in the necessity of hunting for receipt of a succession duty on a piece of property a person was buying, whether or not the original owner had died 45 years before, Mr. Gordon said. He then discussed the complications with the members and the motion followed.

R. Shanks, vice-president, was chairman.

TRAIN TO GRASP OPPORTUNITIES

Night school classes provide training which makes it possible to be better qualified to grasp opportunities as they arise, School Trustee Frank V. Mulliner said in the course of an interesting talk to the Journalism class at Victoria Night School last night.

Mr. Mulliner cited a recent case of a student of last year's evening classes who was preferred over six others in an application for a job because of his extra training.

Mr. Mulliner spoke of personality in its relation to opportunity. Personality is born with one, but it can be molded to meet opportunity, he said. Beside extra technical training, he reminded the class, a man must attend to certain details of character. He will impress those in authority if he is willing to listen to experience with respect. He could improve his effectiveness by paying attention to details of dress. Though luck plays an important part in opportunity, personality must be cultivated and trained so as to be equipped to seize it.

Mr. Douglas Flintoff showed the class a moving picture of "The Story Behind the Headlines," dealing with the handling by the press of the Pier D fire in Vancouver, from the first alarm to the delivery of the Daily Province to the reader's doorstep.

The class instructor, F. J. Merriam, introduced Miss Bette Hughes and Otto Weller, two students of last term who have become successful writers, the former having had articles published at 8 cents a word.

Announce Handicaps

The annual weekly handicap contests of the Y.M.C.A. Swimming Club for the Safety and Gwen Bailey trophies, will commence on Saturday evening, November 18, at the Crystal Garden, the executive of the group decided at a meeting last evening.

It was also decided to entertain the junior girls' swim club of the association at a get-together in the "xy" building on November 8, following the younger groups' swimming period.

The annual meeting of the club will be held on November 15, Chris McRae, president, announced.

LONDON (CP)—Ann Todd, British movie actress, and Flight Lieutenant Nigel Tangye, of the Royal Air Force, were married today at a registry office. Tangye is well known as a contributor to English publications on aviation matters.

HUNTER SUFFERS FREAKISH WOUNDS

In the Jubilee Hospital today Dr. E. L. McInven was attending Jack Falconer, 209 Superior Street, who experienced a medical men described as a miraculous escape from vital injury in a hunting accident near Swanigan Lake yesterday.

Falconer was struck by two shotgun pellets from the gun of his hunting companion, Ernest Smith, Canterbury Avenue, Saanich, who said he fired at a deer which was between him and Falconer.

One of the pellets entered the left side of his abdomen and from the point of entry tunneled between abdominal muscles, missing vital arteries and nerves, to the point of egress which was behind his watch pocket. In the pocket he carried a compass and the pellet was flattened out by its impact with the instrument. Had the pellet moved an inch lower in its journey it might have had serious results, Dr. McInven said.

The other pellet entered the left thigh near the hip and moved in similar fashion across the abdomen and lodged itself in the same relative position in his right leg.

The accident occurred yesterday morning and immediately both hunters returned to town and Falconer proceeded to hospital for examination.

MUSIC TEACHERS HEAR OF OPERA

"Ambitious young singers would not meet so many disappointments upon entering the operatic field, if they would familiarize themselves with the minor roles."

This was the advice and one of the many hints given to young singers by Basil Horsfall, president of the Victoria Music Teachers' Association, before an audience of members and friends of the organization in "Fletcher Brothers' Salon" last evening.

Mr. Horsfall said the operatic field was not only for singers. Pianists, too, have their place; a good pianist with a sound knowledge of opera and foreign languages, could be a useful operatic coach. The possibility of students earning a living in the various branches directly they leave their teacher, was exemplified by the close connection between the world of opera and every branch of the music-teaching profession.

Turning to the historic side, the speaker surveyed the lives of the operatic composers and their contributions to the development of the art, from the 16th century to the present day, in all countries of the world including Italy, France, Germany, England, Russia, and the United States.

35 CITY STREETS GET NEW NAMES

The intermunicipal committee, in a report filed for City Council consideration this afternoon, asked approval for the changes in names of 35 streets in Victoria as a means of avoiding confusion.

The individual names were listed on an appended sheet. With them were lists from Saanich, carrying 45 proposed changes, from Oak Bay with eight, from Esquimalt with 13 and from adjacent unorganized territory another nine.

In addition to the name changes, the committee asked endorsement for a move to renumber certain city streets, where incongruities occur. Immediate action is being taken on Fort and Pandora blocks between Douglas and Blanshard Streets.

In several residential areas numbers will also be redrawn into line. Notices will go out to property owners of the latter numbering delay and the new numbering will be completed by January 1 in order that the revision may be carried in next year's telephone directories.

GILLNETTERS AT SOOKE EXPERIMENT

VANCOUVER (CP)—Mesh used in fish trap leads at Sooke is larger than that used by most gillnet boats in British Columbia waters, G. F. Probert of the British Columbia Fishermen's Protective Association today told the royal commission which is investigating fishing activities in coastal waters.

He testified that most of the gillnet fishermen who fished in Sooke Harbor for a short period in 1938 and this year did so as an experiment.

Questioned by R. Manzer, counsel for J. H. Todd and Son, Spoke fish trap operators, the witness said gillnet fishermen had been "forced" out of the Fraser River by seiners and as a result had decided to conduct the "experiments."

He told the commissioners the protective association had nothing to do with these experiments.

On September 2, 1939, medicinal stamp duties which have been used in England since 1812 were abolished.

Flying Bishop Of Arctic Here

On his first real holiday in several years, Rt. Rev. Gabriel Joseph Elie Breyneat, O.M.L., Roman Catholic bishop of the diocese of Mackenzie, is in Victoria today on his way to California.

Now the senior bishop of the Catholic Church in Canada, the 72-year-old prelate arrived yesterday by motor car and was guest at St. Joseph's Hospital until his departure this afternoon for Seattle. This morning he said his daily mass at St. Ann's Academy.

More than 40 years ago, as a young priest, Bishop Breyneat first went to the great Mackenzie district of northern Canada as a missionary to the Indians.

There he has remained all these years, preaching and visiting his 7,000 worshippers. When he first went into the northland Bishop Breyneat did his traveling by dog sled, over trackless wastes of snow.

Now he uses an airplane—he has his own, an eight passenger Bellanca, and his own pilot, Louis Brisson, who is with him on the present trip. In the north country he is referred to as "the flying bishop." He thinks nothing of jumping into his plane, flying 500 miles to say mass or visit a sick Eskimo.

Bishop Breyneat was born at Saint Vallier, France, October 6, 1867, and educated at the Seminary of Valence. In 1888 he came to Canada and two years later was ordained to the priesthood. In 1901 he went into the Mackenzie district.

He now makes his home at Fort Smith, an outpost on the Slave River, just before it enters into Great Slave Lake.

RALLY TO BRITAIN'S AID—A fitting symbol of the ready response of all parts of the far-flung British Commonwealth of Nations to the challenge of Hitlerism is this picture of buoyant, confident student pilots in the Royal Air Force. Canada, South Africa, Australia, and New Zealand are represented in the group of young men preparing to play their part.

In George O'Brien's newest western, R.K.O. Radio's "Trouble in Sundown," now at the Columbia Theatre, the popular outdoor star out-fights, out-shoots and out-wits a trio of heavies to solve a double murder mystery and bank robbery, and win the girl whose father has been framed by the villains.

'DEAD END' KIDS
As the title so aptly indicates, "The Angels Wash Their Faces," the Warner Bros. picture which opened today at the Atlas Theatre, presents the six "Dead End" Kids in the somewhat unfamiliar guise of law-abiding citizens.
Ann Sheridan heads the adult contingent of players which also includes Ronald Reagan, Henry O'Neill, Eduardo Ciannelli and Berton Churchill, and in addition to the Dead Enders, the juvenile contingent includes such accomplished youngsters as Frankie Thomas, Bonita Granville and Jack Searl.

OAK BAY THEATRE
Motion picture critics may not agree on many things, but they are almost unanimous in stating that the combination of a good director and a good writer produces the best motion pictures. 'ESPIONAGE AGENT' AT THE DOMINION

"Espionage Agent," the new Warner Bros. picture starring Joel McCrea and Brenda Marshall, which opens at the Dominion Theatre today, is a powerful and sensational drama of the unknown guardians of America's peace during history's most dangerous days.
With almost magical precision, the new picture, which was finished just before the outbreak of the war in Europe, foresaw the very situation which exists today, and it vividly depicts the danger to the nation which can be present even while the United States remains neutral in a warring world.

DR. J. S. DOUGLAS DIES IN HALIFAX

Quarantine officials at William Head learned with the deepest regret today of the sudden death of Dr. John S. Douglas, 47, chief quarantine officer at Halifax, N.S. He passed away in a Halifax hospital yesterday following a serious operation.

For a year, between January and December, 1937, Dr. Douglas was chief medical officer at William Head quarantine station here. He had a large number of friends in this city who will be saddened by his passing. He was a very popular official with the quarantine staff at William Head.

It was from this station that Dr. Douglas was transferred to Halifax to assume the post of chief of the Dominion quarantine station there.

The funeral will be held tomorrow at Stellarton, N.S. A son of Mrs. George B. Douglas of Chatham, Ont., and the late Judge George B. Douglas, Dr. Douglas was a graduate of McGill and University of Toronto. He received his degree of doctor of public health from McGill in 1935.

He served as a medical officer in the first Great War and later accompanied Arctic expeditions as physician. He was in charge of the quarantine branch of the Department of Pensions and National Health in the St. Lawrence River for four years.

Besides his widow, his mother and two sisters, Mrs. Roy L. Scythies of Westmont, Que., and Beatrice Douglas of Long Island, N.Y., survive.

COAST WHALES GETTING SMARTER

SEATTLE (AP)—The whaling fleet was back in port here today with a tale of a head-on collision with a wounded 80-foot whale at sea and a report the big mammals are "getting smarter."

With the Pacific American Whaling Company's three-boat fleet tied up in Lake Washington, Ernest Kugler, manager of the Aleutian Islands base, told how a harpooned blue whale "came up suddenly and headed straight for the Aberdeen."

"Before the vessel could be moved, the whale crashed into its starboard side, denting the plates and buckling some of the fittings."

He said examination of the whale showed it suffered only "a little scratch on its chin."

"Plenty of whales were sighted in the Gulf of Alaska," one company official commented, "but it is much harder to get close enough to harpoon them than it was 10 or 12 years ago. They're just getting smarter."

Actually, since the big demand for whalebone for the old-style corsets vanished, a whale doesn't need to be quite so smart to survive.

New Type Refrigerator Car on Test Run

MONTREAL—A refrigerator car which affords new possibilities in the shipment of perishable goods, just completed in the Transcona shops of the Canadian National Railways, made its test run, reaching Montreal today with a shipment of more than 50,000 pounds of bacon. "This car is a radical departure from previously constructed refrigerator cars and represents the most revolutionary development along this line ever built," stated John Roberts, chief of motive power and car equipment for the company. Among those interested in the new car were several officials of American railways who traveled to Winnipeg to inspect it. Accompanying the car on its trip eastward were representatives of the National Research Council and the Canadian National Railways. Several important innovations are featured in this equipment, including more economical operation, uniform temperature, considerably increased loading space and the avoidance of re-icing en route.

New Grace Liners

First of two new liners built under the United States Maritime Commission's program for the Grace Line's New York-South American trade, Ss. Santa Ana, has been launched.

The sister ship, Santa Teresa, is under construction. The vessels are 459 feet overall, 63 feet beam and are designed for a sea speed of 15½ knots. Both ships have a cargo capacity of 8,000 tons.

The Grace Line formerly operated a fleet of four "Santa" liners in the intercoastal service between New York and Victoria via San Francisco, but these vessels were withdrawn some years ago to enter the South American service.

Port of Bellingham Closed By Strike

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (CP)—Labor troubles today virtually closed the port of Bellingham as American Federation of Labor pickets guarded several docks in retaliation against the action of International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union workers who refused to load a vessel at the Bloedel-Donovan cargo mill because of the strike of Congress of Industrial Organizations willworkers there.

The spreading strike affected the Puget Sound Pulp and Timber Company where the Italian steamship Seebell was waiting to be loaded and the municipal dock where the coastal vessel Coast Shipper refused to tie up after the captain saw the picket lines. She moved on to Anacortes where the cargo will be unloaded and trucked to Bellingham.

In Seattle, Wayne L. Morse, United States Pacific coast labor arbitrator, was considering whether he should begin investigating the troubles.

NORAH TAKES OVER WINTER ALASKA RUN

Returning here from Alaska October 29, Princess Louise will replace Princess Norah on the northern B.C. run, sailing from Vancouver November 1 for Prince Rupert, it was announced today at the local offices of the Canadian Pacific B.C. Coast Service.

This change over will release Princess Norah for the Alaska service. She will sail from Vancouver October 31 and will remain on the Skagway route for the winter.

Princess Louise will continue on the Prince Rupert run until the completion of rudder repairs to Princess Adelaide, now moored at the local plant of Yarrows Ltd.

DENY ATHENIA CARRIED GOLD

MONTREAL (CP)—Reports the torpedoed liner Athenia carried $57,000,000 worth of gold and negotiable securities are denied as "ridiculous" by Eric Reford, representing the Donaldson Atlantic Line in Montreal.

Commenting on a story in a New York newspaper to the effect the liner had carried funds to underwrite British war purchases, Reford said there was no gold nor securities aboard. This fact, he said, was confirmed in a cable he received this morning from the line's head office in Glasgow.

Reford said an "exact copy" of the ship's manifest was in his office, and it showed that no such funds were carried aboard the liner, sunk a few hours after declaration of war. He said newspapermen had questioned him previously about the matter and he had told them "to the best of my knowledge there were neither gold nor negotiable securities on board the Athenia."

Basis of the story was described as "German propaganda," invented, Reford declared, to justify the sinking of the ship, and "another crude attempt to detract attention from the foul crime of the German government in ruthlessly sinking without warning a passenger steamer 200 miles from the nearest land."

The French Navigation Line was organized during the Spanish civil war by French sympathizers of the republican government to take supplies to republican ports.

MARSEILLES, FRANCE (CP)—Creditors' action forced the placing on sale today of the 5,000-ton ship Ariz, property of the French Navigation Line, whose officers were jailed recently for trying to sell their ships abroad.

The line had been charged with trying to avoid wartime requisitioning of its vessels by the French government.

STRANDED SAILOR IS SEEKING FRIEND

Richard Armstrong, who signed on as second steward aboard the Yugoslavian Ss. Carica Milica in Victoria, together with four other boys working their passage to England with the intention of joining the Royal Air Force, is stranded in Lisbon, Portugal. He writes that he is in difficult circumstances and is anxious to get in touch with a friend of his, E. H. Grant of Edmonton, and formerly of Victoria and Vancouver.

Armstrong, in his letter, says he would like Grant to write him at either of two addresses in England, c/o Coronation Street, Merton, Durham, or 24½ Brickgarth, Easington, Durham. Pointing out that the ship was forced to put into Lisbon owing to war conditions, Armstrong says, in part: "I am only three days from England and am beyond the aid of the consul as I am working on a Yugoslav ship and am considered a member of the crew."

By long term residence in Canada, Armstrong, an Englishman, claims Canadian citizenship, but lacks a passport. Expressing hope that he would be in a position to get to England before long, Armstrong said he had been unable to get any mail since the vessel anchored in Lisbon harbor.

News also was scarce as the Portuguese had sealed all radio rooms on neutral ships.

Armstrong did not say whether the other boys who joined the ship here were still aboard.

They were T. Meredith, Victoria, messboy; William Reith and John Uzel, trimmers, and F. Douglas-Brown, Vancouver, ordinary seaman.

Arbiter Insists Rulings Final

SEATTLE (AP)—Dean Wayne L. Morse, chairman of the ferry arbitration board and neutral member, outlined procedure opening the Puget Sound ferry strike dispute hearings here and insisted his ruling at its close would be "final."

He said hearings will be held each Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday of each week until concluded. The 23-day strike last summer was over wage and working conditions.

Tender to Bunker

To take on bunkers at Nanaimo before setting out on another work cruise around the Gulf of Georgia, Dominion light-house tender Estevan, Capt. Harry Bilton, will leave port next Wednesday, it was stated by the department today.

Later the Estevan will proceed to the Fraser River mouth area to overhaul buoys and beacons.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—A stronger display by southern markets due to the continued drought in sections of the United States winter wheat belt gave wheat futures prices a steadier tone late in today's session on Winnipeg Grain Exchange. Final quotations were unchanged to ¼ cent higher, October 69½, November 69½, December 70½ and May 75½ and 76.

Selling pressure was not heavy and the weakness was due more to lack of buying power than to any increase in offerings.

Overseas sales of Canadian wheat were believed to have reached 200,000 bushels during the session.

Chicago added about a cent, in the last half of the day while Buenos Aires at noon was ½ cent lower to ½ higher in irregular trading.

In the cash wheat pit, exporters and mills again sought Nos. 2 and 3 northern at improved price spreads. Absence of offers restricted actual sales, however.

Coarse grain trading was moderately active as export houses took substantial quantities of oats and barley.

Western Canada farmers delivered 1,032,000 bushels of wheat to country points yesterday compared with 1,656,000 unloaded on the same day a year ago.

Swiss Ever Ready to Defend Republic

Switzerland! It is a nation where travelers like to go. It is a place of friendly ways and good cheer. It is a land of lovely mountains and charming valleys. In area, Switzerland ranks above either Holland or Belgium, but does not have so many people as either of those countries. The population is about 4,100,000.

Old clock tower in Bern, Switzerland.

The Swiss supply a living proof that people of different nations can join together and get along well. Switzerland's people are of German, French and Italian descent. They have not always agreed about all points, but they have kept their nation's freedom through the centuries.

Switzerland has freedom of religion. People can go to church, or stay away, as they please. Protestants, Catholics and Jews follow their own faiths.

The chief officer of the Swiss government is the president. He is chosen for a term of one year.

Swiss voters choose their law-makers by popular vote. The law-makers meet in Bern, the capital city.

Since two-thirds of the people of Switzerland speak German as their "mother tongue," there has been fear that Adolf Hitler might see Switzerland as a prize to add to his growing empire.

It is possible that such a thing is planned, but we may feel sure that the Swiss will not agree to it. They want to stay together in the fine little nation which is theirs now. In the World War, they did not join Germany, and it does not seem at all likely that they would now want to take Hitler's side.

Switzerland is peace-loving, but the people have seemed ever-willing to defend their country from an invader. It is not certain that such a small country could keep out the armies of a large and powerful nation, but the Swiss have mountains to help them. To pass through a country of mountains means the use of passes or low valleys between the peaks. These are more easy to defend than flat country.

Many of the Swiss make their living by farming. They raise cattle, poultry, fruit, wheat, rye, oats and potatoes. The dairy industry is important, and Swiss cheese is justly famous.

The Swiss are experts in making watches. They also manufacture a great deal of jewelry.

HOROSCOPE

Saturday, October 28

This is not an important day in planetary direction. Until late in the afternoon adverse aspects rule. It is a date most auspicious for week-end visiting and for avoidance of business associates who have authority to give orders. The stars encourage activity by men of affairs.

Parents may be dictatorial today. The tendency to analyze and correct the younger generation may be strong. Wise fathers will finance outdoor sports and excursions to the country. It is an auspicious time to lend the family car. Romance does not threaten under this way which encourages friendship instead of sentimental bonds.

Important matters should be postponed until a more favorable rule prevails. Late today men and women who have responsibility as executives are well-directed. They should employ their spare time in making plans that assure justice to all whom they employ.

Public opinion will be inclined to veer today regarding leaders who shape government policies. There will be a intensified desire to co-operate in positive measures for the defence of democracy.

Because predictions regarding world events must be based on many birthdates it is difficult to make positive prognostications. All the forecasts have stressed the place of secrecy in the shaping of events based upon sudden or unexpected action on the part of a power or a dictator. There is day an ill omen that presages supreme tests for democracies. Because they maintain traditions of honesty and nobility, freedom

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—I am one of six daughters, five of whom are living at home and are single. Our mother is a very selfish woman and has done everything in her power to keep us from having friends. We all work and contribute to the upkeep of the home, but our mother allows us no liberties in it, although we support it. We cannot entertain or do anything that other young people do. Now I have fallen in love with a man who is 25 years older than I am. My life has made me old for my age. He is of a lovely and jovial disposition, which makes him young for his age, so that he doesn't seem old to me. He is well-to-do and could give me a good home, and I feel that I would be very happy with him. But my mother violently objects and says so many things about this man's age, about what people will think, that I am making myself the laughing stock of my associates, that I must be hard up to take a man so much older than myself, that I have come to be very self-conscious about it. Also, she says that she will never see me again if I marry him. What do you advise me to do?

ANSWER—Marry him if you want him and if he suits you. You are the one to be pleased, not your mother. Don't argue with her any more. Just put on your hat some day and step around to the parson's. And don't worry about her not forgiving you. That is all bluff. People don't turn their mature daughters out of their home these days because they don't marry to suit them.

The trouble with your mother is that she doesn't want to lose the money that you contribute to the house. If you can continue to turn in your allowance, you will hear no more about her objections to your husband.

Blue Death Ray No Use for War

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE

Associated Press Science Editor
PROVIDENCE, R.I.—The price of three giant bombing planes will build the world's first real death ray, a bright, blue beam 50 feet long, a few inches in diameter, whose touch for one instant would be a human death warrant.

The machine is a paradox, because it can not be used for war, and the ray, for peace purposes, promises knowledge beyond all present dreams.

The ray machine is a cyclotron, which would manufacture 100,000,000-volt particles to shoot them out at speeds of 60,000 to 70,000 miles an hour. Its possibilities were described to the National Academy of Sciences by Dr. Ernest Lawrence of the University of California.

A cyclotron is a huge electro-magnet arranged so atomic particles whirl around in it until they attain speeds of thousands of miles an hour. The speeding particles are drawn off and used to bombard chemical elements.

The first cyclotron was invented by Dr. Lawrence 10 years ago and today there are small cyclotrons all over the world.

TWICE THE SIZE

But nowhere is there anything like the 2,000-ton machine which Dr. Lawrence proposed to the National Academy. His plans are based on some things which happened in the last two months at the University of California with a new cyclotron, largest in the world, but just half the size of the one which would make the blue death ray.

This machine has revealed the surprising fact that when the voltage of a cyclotron is doubled, the energy it develops is multiplied manifold. One of the things, for example, which cyclotrons do is pender ordinary substances, radio-active. They emit the same rays as radium.

The new machine showed that when its voltage was stepped up from 8,000,000 to 16,000,000 it was able to produce 20 times more radio-activity in iodine. If a valuable document were exposed to this present California machine, the paper itself would emit radium rays and, even if lost at the bottom of a brush heap 50 feet high, could be detected and found, the same as lost radium.

Dr. Lawrence said the things done with the present new California cyclotron prove that the giant he now proposes is entirely feasible. Its 100,000,000 volts would give science power equal to some of the cosmic rays.

As a death ray the blue beam would have no military value for two reasons. The person touched by it would not die for several days and meanwhile would remain for some time a very live fighter. The giant is too heavy to be moved around.

As many as 220 species of fish may be found in Lake Nyasa, Central Africa.

Catarrhal Deafness and Head Noises

Tells Safe, Simple Way to Treat and Relieve at Home

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises caused by catarrh, or if you "drop" in your throat and have caused catarrh of the stomach or bowels you will be glad to know that these distressing symptoms may be entirely overcome in many instances by the following treatment which you can easily prepare in your own home at little cost. Secure from your druggist 1 ounce of Parmitin (Double Strength). Take this home and add to it 10 drops of hot water and a little granulated sugar; stir until dissolved. Take one tablespoonful four times a day. An improvement is sometimes noted after the first day's treatment. Breathing should become easy, while the distressing head noises, headache, dizziness, cloudy thinking, etc., should gradually disappear under the tonic action of the treatment. Less of snoring, defective hearing and mucus dropping in the back of the throat are other symptoms which may often be overcome by this efficacious treatment. It is said that nearly ninety per cent of all ear troubles are caused by catarrh and there must, therefore, be many people whose hearing may be restored by this simple, harmless, home treatment.

U.S. Welcomes Quebec Result

NEW YORK (CP)—The New York Herald-Tribune, commenting editorially on the result of Wednesday's provincial election in Quebec which saw the defeat of Premier Maurice Duplessis' government, said today the recent address of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had influenced Quebec voters.

The newspaper said the "startling result" repudiated Mr. Duplessis' "proposal that the province dissociate itself from the Dominion's war effort," and the result "has been welcomed throughout Canada with a profound sense of relief."

The Herald-Tribune added: "We are sure it is being received on this side of the border with only a slight modification of the same feeling. Since Col. Lindbergh's last speech over the air, Americans have discovered an intense interest in Canadian policy, and as a whole have hoped that his words would not contribute to any threatened division therein, with its disastrous repercussions on the cordial relations of the two countries."

"Far from doing so, one may believe that they helped to produce this overwhelming verdict of unity. It would be silly, of course, to assume that Quebec's voters were principally concerned with answering Lindbergh. On the other hand, there can be no question that Lindbergh's speech played a part in the campaign and influenced their reaction."

(In a recent broadcast address, Col. Lindbergh challenged the right of Canadians "to draw this hemisphere into a European war simply because they prefer the crown of England to American independence.")

The New York Times said Premier Duplessis "must have been extraordinarily deceived about the prevailing sentiment among French-Canadians of Quebec."

"He had tried to make the province an enclave of dissatisfaction and disunity, apart from the rest of the Dominion," said the Times. "His signal failure, his sudden decline in popularity, attest the good sense and good feeling of the people he so lately ruled."

CANADIANS FIRST

WASHINGTON (CP)—The Washington Post said today the Liberal victory in the Quebec provincial election demonstrated Quebec's "wholehearted" support of Canada's part in the war against Germany.

"However strong particularist sentiment may have been in Quebec in the past, it is now obvious that the people of that province today regard themselves first and foremost as citizens of the Dominion."

SLAP FOR GOEBBELS

LONDON (CP)—The Daily Mail today said the result of the Quebec election "flings the lies of Dr. Goebbels about Empire disunity back into the face of their author."

The result of the election, the newspaper added, is an "overwhelming endorsement of Canada's determination to fight Hitlerism to the end."

"This was an Empire by-election," the Mail said. "It served to show the world the sentiment of all the Dominions and colonies. Quebec was a stern test."

The Manchester Guardian's London correspondent said the result is "that the Dominion Government can now count on friendly co-operation instead of nagging hostility from the local authorities in Quebec."

"A Canadian comment heard in London today was that 'the Queen's speech in French has produced results.' Queen Elizabeth spoke in French at the close of the Royal tour of Canada last spring. Her words recently were quoted with moving effect in the Canadian Parliament by Justice Minister LaPointe, foremost French-Canadian Liberal politician."

SHOCK FOR NAZIS

"Those Nazi propagandists who prophesied disintegration of the British Empire under the stress of war have received another unpleasant shock," said the News Chronicle. "In Quebec the party which opposed conscription and unlimited Canadian participation in the war has been overwhelmingly defeated in the provincial election."

"Quebec's verdict is all the more significant by contrast with the attitude it adopted in the last war. In the election of 1917 the opponents of conscription won a striking victory in Quebec province—and there was rioting against the Military Service Act."

"Hitler has done what even the Kaiser was unable to do. He has welded the British Commonwealth into a solid phalanx of opinion, determined to wage war until the common objectives have been attained."

FRANCE PREPARES HUGE WAR BUDGET

PARIS (AP)—Premier Daladier and his cabinet met President Lebrun today and reviewed events of the military and diplomatic fronts and discussed the new provisional budget for 1940, which has been set at 349,000,000,000 francs (about $8,000,000,000), nearly six times that for 1939. In addition to this regular budget, there will be an extraordinary budget.

Finance Minister Paul Reynaud, who announced yesterday to the Senate finance committee that the amount of 349,000,000,000 francs had been set, cautioned that this might be increased before the end of 1940 because it was based only on estimated needs for the first three months of the year.

Nobel Recognition For German Doctor

STOCKHOLM (CP)—The 1939 Nobel Prize for physiology and medicine stands in the name of Prof. Gerhard Domagk of Elberfeld, Germany, although the Nazi government has refused to permit its citizens to accept the Nobel awards during the last three years.

Professor Domagk yesterday was given the award for his discovery of the chemo-therapeutic effect of trinitrophenol on streptococcal infections.

He found that compounds containing sulphur were highly effective in killing the streptococci within the body.

Dr. Cornelle Heymans, professor of pharmacodynamics at the University of Ghent, Belgium, was awarded the 1938 prize for physiology and medicine for his work on the sinus aortic mechanism in breathing.

Dr. Heymans carried on the work of his father on the influence of the aortic regions on respiration.

APPRECIATES HONOR

WUPPERTHAL, Germany (AP)—Dr. Gerhard Domagk, Wuppertal doctor who was awarded the Nobel Prize for research in infection, said he could not accept the prize without authorization. German law since Karl Ossietzky years ago forbids German citizens accepting any Nobel prizes.

Ossietzky was a noted Liberal and opponent of the Nazi regime. Dr. Domagk said he was personally greatly honored and that Germany since also had been given recognition by the Nobel committee, but in view of the law he could not accept.

Voters Choose Stalin

MOSCOW (AP)—Tass (Soviet news agency) today reported the new national assembly for western Ukraine, partly occupied by Russian troops, had elected Josef Stalin as honorary chairman.

Russians Criticize U.S.

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet army newspaper Red Star charges that "efforts of English and French imperialists to convert the war in western Europe into a world war are meeting with active support on the part of reactionary circles in the United States."

"Attempts to silence the Communist Party of the United States and arrest of its general secretary, Comrade Browder, is direct proof of what the policies and intentions of American reactionaries are," the army journal said.

CROWD BOOES AS HOSTAK WINNER

TACOMA, Wash. (AP)—Al Hostak of Seattle dusted Charlie (Killer) Coates of Los Angeles on the cheek with a right cross in the third round of their scheduled 10-round nontitle fight here last night to win by a knockout in his first bout since regaining the N.B.A. middleweight title from Solly Kreiger last June.

After feeling the Los Angeles negro out for two rounds, the champion began to mix it in the third. Midway in the round Hostak hit Coates on the left cheek bone and the California boxer went down. The crowd booed while Coates was counted out.

Hostak weighed 160½, Coates 166.

The fight was the first in a barnstorming tour the champion is scheduled to make through the United States.

world middleweight title. Garcia, by his recent victory over Freddie Apostoli, is recognized as champ in New York and California. By knocking out Solly Kreiger, Hostak regained recognition in the 46 other states of the U.S.

George Parnassus, manager of Garcia, suggests that inasmuch as Hostak lives in Seattle and Garcia in Los Angeles, the two boxers meet in a neutral city to settle their argument. Then comes along Mike Jacobs, why promoter for Madison Square Garden, with an offer of 30 per cent to Hostak to box Garcia in New York.

It all looks part of a program to discredit Hostak in the eyes of the boxing world and establish Garcia as the 160-pound king.

Why should Hostak take 30 per cent of a New York gate when, as the champion, he can have the champion's end of 37½ per cent in Seattle?

Why should Hostak consider any percentage in New York against a Seattle percentage? Three recent middleweight extravaganzas in New York, all with championship billing, drew as follows:

Fred Apostoli vs. Ceferino Garcia, $30,000.

Apostoli vs. Young Corbett, $16,000.

Freddy Steele vs. Babe Risko, $14,000.

Three recent title bouts in Seattle drew:

Steele vs. Hostak, $86,000.

Steele vs. Risko, $68,000.

Hostak vs. Krieger, $45,000.

A middleweight would be crazy to fight in New York, in preference to Seattle.

Ceferino Garcia is under a long contract to Mike Jacobs. He's been promised double protection to fight Hostak here, sure as shooting.

"We'll take care of you, if you bring Hostak to New York," Jacobs and his aides promised Eddie Marino, Al's manager.

"Yeah, look at the way Jacobs took care of Max Baer, Lou Nova, Henry Armstrong and Fred Apostoli in recent months . . ."

They got them all knocked off because he had no more use for them at the moment," recalled Marino.

New York also took care of several former northwest boxers. Leo Lomski couldn't get a fight there until he hired a New York manager, as well as his own pilot. He was lucky to end up with a third of his purse. Tod Morgan was kicked around in the east.

Freddy Steele found himself pushed into the battle arena in New York when unfit for even a gymnasium workout. Sure, the New Yorkers "take care" of northwest boxers.

ST. PAUL (AP)—Chicago Black Hawks of the National Hockey League defeated St. Paul Saints of the American Association for the second time 5 to 2 in an exhibition game last night.

The Hawks scored four unanswered goals and St. Paul counted one and a second on a penalty shot early the third period.

The Hawks kept a constant bombardment on the Saints' goal, Lopresti making a total of 30 stops compared with Karakas' total of 18.

In the October women's par competition at the Colwood Golf Club yesterday Mrs. Arthur Dowell was the winner with a score of 1 up. In the B division Mrs. D. A. Macdonald was the victor with a score of 7 down.

In the autumn cup tournament, a three-card eclectic, Mrs. Dowell was also the winner with a card of 80-123-78-18.
